Dean Thomas retires

By Amit Kanodia

"We should realize that we would not stop learning even after we leave the University of Lowell, but [that we would] keep learning and learn to love learning" said the retiring Assistant Dean of the College of Management Science, Joseph Thomas.

Dean Thomas has served the university since 1973 and plans to move to Annapolis, Maryland. He is a man of diversified experiences and interests. His family has lived in Lowell since 1825, when they arrived from Ireland. The son of a local merchant, he graduated from high school in 1946 from what was then called Keith Academy in Lowell. He then joined the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland. He graduated with a Bachelor of Marine Engineering in 1953 and joined the U.S. Navy, in the Explosive Ordinance Disposal Unit as Lt. Commander.

He served on assignments in the Pacific, China, Japan, Korea, Phillipines and Vietnam. He was on active duty in Vietnam during 1963-1968, serving as an Advisor to the Vietnamese Navy and also as an Executive Officer on a repunishment ship. "We wasted our time, as we should not have been there and we did not help them one bit," said Dean Thomas.

A pleasant memory of his stay in Vietnam was learning that the simple life was so satisfying to the natives; it was much more enjoying and satisfying to them than it could be to us said Thomas.

After Vietnam he was assigned short-term duties in Philadelphia and then in Boston.

Rev. Elizabeth Kaeton to leave ULowell

By Father Paul Garrity

When Labor Day rolls around and the Fall semester is about to break upon us, the University community will be shy of one smiling face and one tireless worker whose presence has been a blessing to us all. Reverend Elizabeth Kaeton has recently indicated that she will be leaving the University of Lowell to become Associate Pastor of Memorial Episcopal Church in Baltimore, Maryland. Admired and loved by all of us who had the opportunity to know her and experience her caring, she will be sorely missed and fondly remembered.

Elizabeth came to the University of Lowell in January of 1986 after completing her studies at Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge and set about the task of establishing the University of Lowell Campus Ministry. Situated in Fox 409, she quickly became a permanent fixture wherever and whenever a little bit of love, a lot of compassion and a generous amount of understanding were needed. While it would be impossible to chronicle the accomplishments of this "whirlwind lady" in the space allotted here or even synopsise her involvements at the University and elsewhere, several things demand mention. Above all else, Elizabeth touched our lives because she is a woman of faith, deeply rooted in her experience of God's transforming presence in her life. No shrinking violet, this woman of God is deeply convinced that God's passionate love for all people can only find human expression in the passionate quest for justice and equality. Here at ULowell this has meant many hours of thoughtful listening, raising our awareness about the disease of AIDS and a particular care for those afflicted by alcoholism. Most of all, Elizabeth has given us an example of what it means to be in love with life and in love with the multiple challenges that a laughing God invites us to embrace.

In the short span of 18 months, Elizabeth Kaeton has touched many of our lives and helped us to more deeply experience God's mercy and love. We thank you, Elizabeth, for being with us these past semesters — for your grace and your charm; for your wit and your wisdom; for your laughs and your tears; but most of all for your love and the generous gift of yourself. May our loving God continue to keep you in the palm of Her hand and bless your new ministry with success, much happiness and peace.

Students clean up Lowell

By Laurie Eno

A twelve-member team of ULowell students, in support of the National Student Campaign Against Hunger, took part in one of the most innovative and beneficial fund-raisers ever seen in the city of Lowell. The students were sponsored by area businesses and local persons to paint, clean, and repair at designated sites within the city. Initially Cleanup was a MassPIRG sponsored event, but it was two junior students, Claire Duclos and Laurie Eno, who organized and carried out the project. All money will be forwarded to the hunger relief effort, divided equally between a local non-profit soup kitchen and the U.S.A. for Africa Organization. All totaled, pledges from students, faculty and local businesses in Lowell amounted to $350, and the Lowell Community Residence, the Rocking Horse Day Care Center, the House of Hope and Mrs. Doris Beauraguard of Westford welcomed the student workers on Saturday morning when they painted, did yardwork, and other chores.

It was inspiring to see students volunteering their time in the spirit of altruism. Those who gave their time and elbow grease to the cleanup were: David Morais, Diana Di Renzo, Kristin Macy, Chris Svelnes, Pam Smith, William Chung Lin, Greg Worthen, Bob Gay, Kim Turner, Becky Szymcik, Claire Duclos and Laurie Eno. Thank you!

Thanks also to those who sponsored the Hunger Cleanup. Thursday is the last day of classes: those who have not yet sent their pledge please remit to Claire Duclos Box 1915N or to Laurie Ann Eno 5345S by May 15th. We would like to thank all of the sponsors: Monique and Dan Sullivan, Louis Demetre, Bill Gaffney, Kevin Bettencourt, Kathy Manning, Julie Neville, Joe Champlain, Kevin Bibeau, Shawn Dunn, Dominic Gentile, Greg Herr and Caroline Wendel, James Quinn, James Hegarty, John O'Meara, Paul Charpentier, Brian Laframboise, Linda Lavoie, Wendy Porter, Richard Donovan, Stephen Grasso, Kevin Swindon, Dan LeBlanc, Gary Constantine, Mike Foley, Dan Brassard, Maureen Leonardi, Paul Sweet, Brian Morin, Steve Silva, Mark Harwood, Mark Riley, Cindy Reeves, Ninad Patel, Shanta Ram Punukollu, Khakhar Satish, Rajkishor Lohza, Ashish Ahusa, Jill Zan-nini, Kim Vei, Michelle Troy, Ilidia Vasconcelas, Bob Fish, Kim Marques, Stephen St. Pierre, Paula Mc Manimon, Elle Koss, Phil Moss, Frank Sedaghati,

NEW CLUB FORMING

The Human Resource Management Club is being instituted here at ULowell as you read this. Our purpose is to foster leadership in tomorrow's managers, to discuss issues in the growing area of human resource management, to help prospective human resource management majors to decide if HRM is for them, and to talk about problems and opportunities facing today's ULowell students. If you want to get in on the ground floor of a new dynamic club, then the Human Resource Management Club is for you. Human resource management skills are needed and used by every occupation, whether it be engineering, management, or music. With this in mind, we have made membership open to all University of Lowell students. We will be meeting twice a month. We want your input, so write to us today with your ideas, and to get more information. DO IT TODAY.

Contact Morris Porter at ULowell box 856N, or Tess Cotter at box 1155N. WATCH THE CONNECTOR AND THE BULLETIN BOARDS FOR FUTURE ANNOUNCEMENTS ABOUT THE CLUB.

ULowell Women's Center

The University of Lowell Women's Center is holding its weekly meetings on Wednesdays at 3 PM. These meetings are held in the Women's Center, Room 340 of the South Campus Student Union Building. The Women's Center sponsors various activities that are both fun and educational. These include a women's film series, brown bag lunch discussions, outings, and a peer support network for all women on campus.

All University of Lowell students, staff, and faculty members are welcome. Please join us and learn more about vital issues that are facing university women today. Sylvia Starbuck, Co-Director, Box 5744

Pre-Law Society

The PRE-LAW SOCIETY of the University of Lowell would like to thank and acknowledge the supportive and innovative input which the Pre-Law Society has received from the society's officers. They are:

BOB RAUKER

Vice President

CHRIS ANDRIANOPOULOS

Treasurer

JIM MARQUES

Secretary

The PRE-LAW SOCIETY would like to also extend a warm and sincere "THANK YOU" to our distinguished PRE-LAW ADVISOR--DR. ANDRUSAITIS. Dr. Andrusaitis is our "Piece of the Rock". He has given us spontaneous and informative support which has given us an edge on the road towards Law School.

The Pre-Law Society wishes LEGAL EAGLES everywhere good luck in maxing their finals and have a beautiful summer.

SMILE

Dan Ziegler

Pre-Law Society President

Alumni Placement

During the summer months the Placement Office receives requests from companies looking for individuals to fill vacant positions.

If you have been unable to find employment during the regular recruiting season or are interested in investigating the job market, please fill out an alumni referral card. Keep us supplied with resumes and we will assist you in your job search.

SENIORS

To those Seniors who should be graduating in May but who will not because they have NOT completed the Physical Education Requirement.

The privilege for you to complete the requirement this summer is being offered during the first summer session ONLY. In order for you to be able to do this, you must register through Continuing Education, using the following procedure:

1. Go to Continuing Education office and pick up the necessary form.
2. Make an appointment to see me:
  - a. My office hours are posted on the door of my office.
  - b. My office is Mahoney B-2.
3. Registration dates are April 20-May 20.
4. Return to the Continuing Education Office with the signed, approved form from me with your checkbook. Pay for the course.
5. During our discussion, we will talk about what you will be doing to earn your credit(s) and when verification of that is due to me.
6. Turn in that verification to me by the pre-determined deadline.

Do not expect to be able to register for the course after May 20. Plan ahead NOW.

If my office hours and your free time do not coincide, leave a message with your name and phone number, and I will call you. We can then make a mutually-agreeable appointment time.

MUSIC MINISTRY GRADUATION MASS

On Saturday, May 30th at 5:30 PM in O'Leary 222 a Graduation Mass will be celebrated for graduates, families, relatives and friends. This Mass has been scheduled at 5:30 PM to allow people the opportunity to attend the outdoor reception which begins at 6:00 PM.

We are looking for musicians and singers to participate in this special liturgy. If you sing, play the guitar, flute or trumpet, perhaps you would consider becoming a member of this group for this occasion. The Catholic Center's Music Ministry at ULowell is a group called together to encourage and to lead the faith community in song and worship at our masses.

We have set up the following rehearsal dates:

Sunday	May 10	4:00 PM	Catholic Center
Saturday	May 30	4:00 PM	O'Leary 222

It is important to attend several of these rehearsals. So, if you live close enough and are interested please contact Pat Davison at the Catholic Center 454-0151.

Graduation Mass

All graduates, their families and friends are invited to a special graduation mass on Saturday evening before graduation at 5:30 PM in O'Leary 222. The mass has been scheduled at this time to allow people the opportunity to attend the outdoor reception which will begin at 6:00 PM. Since graduation takes place on Sunday morning, the graduation mass will also be a Sunday mass celebration. Please invite your families and friends now so that they will be able to make appropriate plans. If you are planning to participate in the outdoor reception/buffet on the evening before graduation, your family especially may appreciate this opportunity.

For more information, please contact the Catholic Center, 454-0151.

ACoA

Adult Children
of Alcoholic Group

On Thursday, May 7th beginning at 12 PM in Room 329 in the SUB a speaker from the Al-Anon Family Group will speak to the Adult Children of Alcoholics Group. If you are interested in knowing more about Al-Anon/AcoA plan to attend, and bring your lunch. For more information call Pat at the Catholic Center 454-0151.

The ACoA groups will not be meeting during the summer months. The last meeting for the Thursday group will be on Thursday, May 21st in the Student Health Center in the SUB starting at 12 PM. It has been a very successful year for the ACoA groups, and we look forward to seeing you in September.

News Briefs

Mass. Board to monitor college's finances

The Massachusetts Board of Regents of Higher Education will begin a daily monitoring of the finances of Roxbury Community College following a state audit that revealed numerous irregularities.

According to local press reports, the audit, which has not been made public, showed overpayments to college employees, no-bid purchases in violation of state regulations, and termination of the National Direct Student Loan Program because of a default rate of more than 86%.

The college's fiscal affairs have been under scrutiny since February, when reports circulated that Ms. Brunetta Wolfman, the college's president, had used $240 from a college trust fund for political contributions. She later reutned the money.

U.S. judge upholds Alabama's ban on play

The University of Alabama is not obligated to allow a sexually explicit play to be performed in a campus auditorium, a federal judge has ruled.

Walter Alves, a graduate student, sued the university for prohibiting the performance of his play, Babylon Motel, in the university's concert auditorium. The university maintained that the play, which contains nudity, violence, and simulated oral sex between two children of a mixed-race couple, might be offensive to some people and was inappropriate for that space.

Mr. Alves appealed the decision.

Wheaton alumnae fight plan to enroll males

Alumnae of Wheaton College (Mass.) are organizing and raising money in an attempt to defeat a plan to admit men to the 153-year-old women's college.

In Boston and six other cities, graduates held fund-raising events and voiced strong opposition to the proposal, under which the college would admit men in the fall of 1988. It has been accepted "in principle" by Wheaton's trustees, and a final vote is scheduled to take place next month.

All charges are dropped against Mass. president

All criminal charges have been dropped against Francis J. Pilecki, the former president of Westfield State College who was accused of sexually assaulting two male students.

Mr. Pilecki was acquitted in the first case, which was brought to trial in January. Charges in the second case were dropped last month after an out-of-court settlement was reached in a civil suit brought by the second student. No details of the settlement were made public.

APICS & ASQC Establish Prominence

By Chandrashekar Prabhu

American Production & Inventory Control Society and American Society for Quality Control have worked closely together and have been extremely active through organizing meetings, study groups, conferences, plant tours, guest lectures etc. The membership enrollment of these two organizations have tripled over the past year. Professor David Lewis of Management Department and Professor Paul A. Kales of Industrial technology Department has greatly contributed towards the success of APICS & ASQC.

The ULowell student chapter of APICS is affiliated with the North Shore chapter of the National APICS. The Role of APICS Student Chapter Advisor, a paper by Richard Ducharme and David Lewis, both of the College of Management Science, was published in the most recent issue of The Operations Management Review. Ducharme and Lewis are the founders and advisors of ULowell student chapter of APICS. Last November APICS, held a regional student conference at Sturbridge, Mass which was, according to former APICS president Rick Desmarais, "a grand success." APICS has been exploring various management opportunities, especially those dealing with production, inventory, and materials control. APICS also organized study groups to review materials for the CPIM exams, which is analogous to CPA exams. It has also awarded annual scholarship for student research and contributed articles to the ULowell library.

Both APICS and ASQC sponsored plant tours to see first hand production operations going on in different industries. Guest speakers were invited to speak about trends, job requirements, career parts, and placement in both management and engineering fields. Last year professor Paul A. Kales was invited to speak at the International Conference of American Society for Quality Control in Anaheim, California. The ASQC has been a world wide leader in the development, promotion, and application of quality technologies for the private sector, the government, and academia.

Dean Thomas will be retiring from the University this semester. Keep smiling, Dean!

Panas puts away his brushes

By Chuck Mahaleris

It was a night course in drawing at the Lowell Textile Institute that influenced graduating Lowell High senior Leo Panas into the field that he would help mould at the University of Lowell. But now this student-favorite Art Department professor will be setting aside his easel after over 25 masterful years of service to the university.

Panas, who was born within walking distance of south campus, began work at the age of seventeen as a heel-screw in a local shoe factory. After a tour of duty in World War II that took him through Germany, Italy and France, Professor Panas worked as a Sports Cartoonist for the Lowell Sunday Telegram.

This intermittent cartooning work led Professor Panas to the educational field where in 1953 he became the Supervisor of Arts in Lowell Schools.

In 1958, The State Board of Education assigned to Lowell State College where he taught classes and supervised the apprentice teaching of Art by the Education majors. "At one point," Panas recounts, "I was the only faculty in Art Department..." and it was due to his recommendations that influenced the growth of the department on campus.

Having worked as advisor to the Campus Star (a predecessor to the Connector), Commencement Director, assistant Baseball Coach, and Art Department Chairman for 15 years; Professor Panas is sure that once he leaves the Student Union Building for the last time, he will miss his daily contacts with the students most. "I find [the students] energetic, serious, ambitious and level-headed," stated Panas earlier this week.

From here Professor Panas will do some illustrative work for the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission about the French immigrants who settled in Lowell. But most of his time will be to see that his grandson applies early for the class of 2009. "Who knows what the SAT score requirements will be by then!"

Dean of College of Management Science retires

He was a graduate of the first graduate class from what was then called Lowell Technological Institute in 1973. He received a Master's degree in Management Science. He recalls that the tuition fee at that time was $37 per credit for graduate courses.

He then went to the University of Massachusetts at Amherst to pursue a Doctorate in Management Science.

Dean Thomas joined the faculty here in 1973 as an instructor of Analytical Methods, Business Policy and Organizational Behavior. He served in this position until 1976. He moved to join the faculty at U.Mass, Boston and was there for a year and later moved to Bentley College for a year. He received his Doctorate in Management Science in 1978 and joined the Assumption College at Worcester and then came back to the University of Lowell as an Associate Professor.

He became the acting Assistant Dean in October 1982 and Assistant Dean in January 1983. Since then he has been very active in bringing in many much-needed changes within the college and has been greatly successful in establishing a very good relationship with the undergraduate students, as well as with the faculty and staff.

He also wrote a student handbook for all CMS students so that the students could have a readily available set of rules and regulations and course descriptions for the college of Management Science. He is also remembered for his efforts in getting us the accreditation from AACSB.

Dean Thomas is a strong believer in the theory that the best things in life are the simplest. He likes to get to the nitty-gitty right away. Even his animated conversation is direct and to the point.

He has been a friend of and listener to the undergraduate student; he is one who realizes the confusing situations students can sometimes find themselves in. He will undoubtedly be missed after he moves to Maryland.

"I am here," he said, "to assist and help others, especially the students, not to direct them from department to department."

We here at the university wish him and his family a very happy move to Maryland.

Retraction

The Connector distributed on April 30th contained an article that misrepresented the Pershing Rifle Squadron. The article was titled "Army Squadron shoots high during military competition."

As the Pershing Rifle Squadron has no connection with the Army branch of the military services, the headline should have read "Pershing Rifle Squadron shoots high during competition."

The Connector regrets any inconvenience that occurred because of this oversight and wishes to add its congratulations to the members of squadron N-12 for their successes at the Fort Devans event.

The Importance of Seeing 'Earnest'

The Importance of Being Earnest. A trivial play for serious people written by Oscar Wilde. Playing through May 16 at the Merrimack Repertory Theatre, Lowell, MA. For ticket info call 454-3926.

barry holt

The manners and values of the upper class take their lumps in this comedy classic from straight out of your freshman lit anthology: Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest. This fast-paced farce has been winning audiences since 1894. Hardly is one clever retort delivered before its funnier rejoinder follows. Once described as "the wittiest light comedy in the language," this playful satire of 19th-Century high-society shows the pure and simple truth to be "rarely pure and never simple."

The truth turns out to be a rather flexible entity. Young Jack Worthing travels to London under the pretense of bailing his fictitious older brother Earnest out of a jam. In actuality he has gone to propose to Gwendolen Fairfax, the cousin of his friend

Algernon Moncrief. Jack returns home, announcing that Earnest has unfortunately died, only to find Algernon already there and pretending to be said brother Earnest in hopes of meeting Jack's 18-year old ward Cecily. And so it goes—a predictable tangle of mistaken identities ensues, only to worsen as lies build on lies until the unthinkable occurs—Jack and Algernon find themselves in the disagreeable position of having to tell the truth to explain themselves.

Throughout the play Algernon's retorts and self-serving logic never failed to hit the comic mark. "Once a week is more than enough to dine with one's own relations," he says, belying the mischievous nature he takes no pains to hide. The entire cast from the butler on up is granted the benefit of choice lines which they delivered with excellent timing and nicely-done British inflections.

The non-stop repartee between the cultured upper-class characters whose underlying tendencies toward deceit and subterfuge are thinly disguised by the veneer of good manners is deftly held up for ridicule by Wilde, but their superficial concerns are so absurd that at no time do we feel any dislike for their characters. During Lady Bracknell's interrogation of Jack, she comments on his lack of knowledge concerning his parentage, "To lose one parent may be regarded as misfortune—to lose both looks like incompetence." Not once does a serious moment appear amidst the drawing-room atmosphere of high tea and cucumber sandwiches. It's a crazy combination of high tone and high jinks which closes out the season at the Merrimack—making it even more important that you go see Earnest.

John Worthing (Curzon Dobell) proposes to Gwendolen Fairfax (Stephanie Clayman) as Lady Bracknell (Alice White) objects.

The British Edge May 8 - June 14, 1987 at The Institute of Contemporary Art

As much a festival as an exhibition, The British Edge is a multi-disciplinary celebration of cultural and artistic activity in contemporary London. The show incorporates a gallery exhibition with photographic, sculptural, and architectural work; a film series, videotapes, and television screenings; musical performances; a fashion show and lectures by important cultural critics.

Each of the artists in the gallery exhibition of The British Edge is represented by a single major work, many made specifically for this show. These strong artistic statements exemplify distinctly individual points of view. And yet, despite their differences, the artists in The British Edge share a strategy: whether they refer to consumer society, psychoanalytic theory, or the conventions of representation, they respond critically to the world around them, and the role of the individual within it.

The Institute of Contemporary Art is located at 955 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02115. For more information call 266-5152.

Women in History

Althea Gibson

Althea Gibson whose ambition was to be "the best woman tennis player who ever lived" was the first black tennis player to win the United States National Tennis Championship. Brought up in Harlem, Althea Gibson began to play tennis seriously at the age of 13, quitting school and working as a chicken cleaner and factory worker in order to support herself. Eventually, a prominent Southern black family became her foster family, and she was able to improve her game, finish high school, go to college, and get a degree in physical education.

In 1950, she was the first Black invited to play in the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association Championships, and in 1957 she was the first Black to win at Wimbledon. She then went on to win the U.S. Championship at Forest Hills.

We at the University of Lowell Women's Center celebrate the life of Althea Gibson and other notable women. We would like to invite all members of the University Community to join us. Our activities are varied and fun. We meet every Wednesday at 3 PM, in Room 340 of the South Campus Student Union Building. Please come join us! Sylvia Starbuck, Director, Box 5744.

Lowell National and State Parks 1987 Summer Season

Lowell National Historical Park and Lowell Heritage State Park will kick-off their 1987 summer season on May 23. An exciting schedule of historical tours, including the popular Mill and Canal Tour and the Run of the Mill Tour, highlight the Park's daily offerings. Festivals, farmers and artists markets, and a variety of outdoor concerts and special events are scheduled to take place throughout the summer. All activities are free and open to the public. ## Great Woods Jazz and Blues Festival set for June 20, 21

The greenery of Great Woods will resound with syncopated rhythms when the the second annual Jazz and Blues Festival at the Great Woods Center for the Performing Arts takes the stage on Saturday afternoon, June 20, at 1:00 p.m., Saturday evening at 7:00 p.m., and Sunday, June 21, at 1:00 p.m. Max Roach, The Modern Jazz Quartet, John Lee Hooker and Koko Taylor top the list of internationally renowned artists that Jazz Programming Consultant Fred Taylor has lined up for this sizzling summer showcase of jazz and blues. The Jazz and Blues Festival is presented as part of the "USTRust Festival '87," a summer-long series that also includes classical and folk music.

"The dean of modern percussionists," Max Roach, will open the 1987 Jazz and Blues Festival on Saturday, June 20, with An Afternoon with the "Masters," a unique program which will trace the development of jazz tap dance, and demonstrate its relationship to jazz drumming. He will be joined in this informal, afternoon concert by a pantheon of jazz tap greats, including Chuck Green, Jimmy Slide and Diane Walker.

The Modern Jazz Quartet bring their 35th anniversary celebration to Great Wood on Saturday evening at 7:00 p.m. when they headline a gala evening of The Classics of Jazz which also includes Carmen McRae, The Count Basie Band and special guests. Their smooth interplay of classicism and swing, and an intuitively responsive style of improvisation have made the MJQ consistent audience favorites around the world.

An All-Day Blues Festival shakes the Jazz and Blues Festival to a close on Sunday, June 21, starting at 1:00 p.m. Despite a kaleidoscopic array of styles and techniques, the blues come down to one thing: raw emotion. Nothing expresses the blues more eloquently than the wailing sound of Koko Taylor's growling voice. "The Queen of the Blues" has won every award that the blues world has to offer, including seven W.C. Handy Awards, and six Grammy Award nominations. The "Queen" and her Blues Machine will make way for "The King of Boogie," John Lee Hooker. The 69-year-old blues pioneer has headlined every major festival in the world, and was cited with a National Folk Heritage Award from the Smithsonian Institute. Hooker has also been a major influence on the development of rock music. Local heroes Roomful of Blues were just awarded a Best Blues Band honor at the first Boston Music Awards. Their updated big band sound has won praise from audiences and critics alike, and they have garnered three Grammy nominations. Special guests for the Festival include blues legend Albert Collins, also a Grammy winner this year, The Nighthawks, Johnny Winter and Luther "Guitar" Johnson.

The Great Woods Center for the Performing Arts is located at Mansfield, MA, within 40 minutes of Boston, Providence, Worcester and Cape Cod, just off State Road 140 at the junction of interstates 495 and 95.

Tickets for the second annual Jazz and Blues Festival are now on sale. Tickets are available by telephone charge from Ticketmaster at 1-800-682-8080, and at all Ticketmaster outlets. Tickets are also available by mail order from the Great Woods box office at P.O. Box 810, Mansfield, MA, 02048. For more ticket information, please call 1-800-BEETHOVEN.

Apple Presents "Macademia"

May 28 & 29, 1987 Boston College

The field of education is changing rapidly as colleges automate and new exciting courseware is developed. Apple® Computer is proud to be part of this growing trend with successful relationships with colleges and universities utilizing Macintosh™ and Macintosh™ Plus. In keeping with its commitment to the college market, Apple invites you to attend "Macademia" a two day conference on May 28 and 29, 1987, co-sponsored by Boston College. Administrators, Department Heads, and Professors—all of you will benefit from this exciting program and have the opportunity to:

- Evaluate the latest courseware developed by your peers
- Discover how the newest commercial software has been tailored for instructional and administrative use
- See Apple's connectivity of Macintosh Plus to mainframe computers, mini-computers, MS-DOS systems, and other systems
- Receive information on the latest Macintosh development systems
- Meet Apple Representatives and discuss the specific needs of your institution

You'll also have the opportunity to tour Boston College and see how this school has integrated Macintosh throughout its system, as well as having created extensive support structures and networks. Learn how your college can address issues such as public access, support classes for faculty, hardware integration and evaluation from those who have experienced the process first hand.

For an information packet on "Macademia" visit the North Campus Bookstore or call Jim Campbell at 454-1331. Space is limited to 500 attendees.

The power to be your best.™

Deke Speak

Hello again from all of us here at Delta Kappa Phi, at the ever vibrant and pulsating University of Lowell. We just finished our legendary Triple Death Threat Weekend, and the body count is still continuing.

Even before the start of the weekend, the Brothers were keeping themselves busy. Wednesday was the first annual IFSC Party Train, which became a mass of party-goers traveling from house to house in search of the type of entertainment that only the Greeks can provide. It ended with a rousing concert at Cumnock Hall with the nationally renown band Working Class. The credit for this successful end to a rather subdued Greek Week should go to Kevin Dufour, for getting the administration to support such an event, and for seeing that it went off without a hitch.

The next night was the official start of the weekend for us, and even though it was a slower start than the Spring Carnivals of years past, the Brothers still made the best of it. We got the best seats in the house at Tulley Forum thanks to Cz, and we were able to enjoy the concert from a backstage viewpoint. Bob was glad to forget the pressures of a concert when we got back to our house for some refreshments. He is more than willing to pass the mantle of command to Vinner, who will be putting his years of experience to good use as our new AC Director.

Part two of the weekend picked the pace up a bit, as the Brothers got in a good meal before the start of the grand finale. Steak-n-Brew was once again the day long event of eating and drinking that has become a facet here every year. Bill was happy to do his part in starting the monumental structures that would adorn our house the next day when he was successfully able to avoid another try by the dark forces to suck another member into their flanks. After narrowly escaping its grasp, he gave it the phone number of Bruce Schwegler, and sent it on its way. KAD and JD did their best Andy Kaufman imitation in the Fireplace Room, as they displayed their awesome talents, only to be embarrassed by their underlings. The new sisters from the satin tour jacket sorority were lucky enough to have this as their first function. After most of the festivities were over, KAD and the social crew had another vigil to prepare for the religious phenomenon that we have come to call Yahmo.

The long awaited event had finally arrived that Saturday evening. As people flocked in from as far as 800 miles away to partake in the lustful debauchery that is commonplace at Yahmo. We allowed slightly more than the 250 people that we planned on letting in, as people arrived in droves (probably from the ever exciting and nondiscriminatory RHA olympics). In the interest of safety, we had to turn away as many thrill-seekers as we let in. Sorry if you didn't get in this time, but you should have arrived earlier. Those that entered were able to lounge in the island like surroundings in the shade of the sacred Totem Pole, and get their drinks from the collapsible Tiki Hut Bar. When they tired of that, they were able to move inside to dance to the tunes that were faithfully provided by Cujo and Tess. The PDA awards are too numerous to list in this limited space, but they will live on in the minds of the many that were there to witness them. Those few that survived the Yahmo experience had one more momentous event to look forward to.

Sixteen Brothers that were vigilantly listening to the radio several weeks ago, were able to get the hottest tickets next to Yahmo tickets. They went to see U2 at the Centrum Sunday and Monday nights. They knew the night would be great when Nunz, I mean Al, and Bill, I mean Bob, were able to join the rest of the group at McGilvary's.

Deke of the Week goes to those fortunate eight that have finally made it through the college experience, and are going to achieve stardom in the real world. Congratulations go to Mike Turgeon, Kevin Masterson, Dave Poor, Rick Desmaris, Jim Pappaionou, Scott Gannon, Steve Souza, and Kevin Dick. An honorable mention has to go Lee for bravery above and beyond the call of fraternity. In the middle of Yahmo, with total disregard for his own safety, he selflessly dove on top of the barrel of punch and saved it when the Tiki Hut roof collapsed. Lee ... we salute you.

Alpha Bits

Here we are at the end of the semester. We would like to congratulate our seniors Pam Arndorfer, Debbie Mayotte, Stephanie Burke, Alumna Carol Grenier who have all been inducted into our Alumnae Association. The pizza was great and quickly devoured. Later we enhanced our festivities and headed to TKE for the end of the Party Train--we all had a great time! After You-B and Lee headed over to Cumnock to join a few Greeks in dancing to the band, while the rest hit their usual spot, DK. Laura (or should I say Swabit) joined Swba for the victory in the bag game.

We won! We won! Did everyone see our picture in the Lowell Sun as we ran down University Avenue on Thursday in the Greek Chariot Race? Carrol Ann from AO-how's your leg-are you still alive from your topple? And Sandy-how was your wipe out? Every year someone goes down, yet all in fun.

On Friday we all enjoyed a scrumptious, mouth-watering dinner at Steak-n-Brew at DK. The potatoes were well-burnt, but the ice cream was yummy! This event was only a warm-up to...YAHMO! There was even an expedition in search of sunglasses by Laura, Ann Marie and Pam to match the palm trees on Donna Marie's. Everyone had a blast especially during the AST group photo session.

Laura and Beth went to the U2 concert!! They were still able to make it to Yahmo, though. Girls, your T-shirts are great!!

Elbee and Linus-Happy Graduation and Congrats! Good Luck out in the real world- we know you'll do just fine.

Happy Birthday. Babs-we love you!!

Until next semester..... Are you ready for the summer, are you ready for the good times?! Good Luck on finals and have a great summer!

Tau Love,

The Sisters of Alpha Sigma Tau

Teke Talk

Greetings from the brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon. We hope everybody had a great time at the Sewer Party, it was a real blast. For those who got turned away we hope you can get here earlier next year. Also, thanks to everybody who came by for the party train last Wednesday; it seems we can't keep kegs full around here anymore!

Pledging for the summer starts May 17. If you're looking to join a great fraternity and enjoy a great way of life, come by and meet us. For all those who came by last Thursday before Squeeze we hope to see you this summer.

Teke of the town this week is Rick Walsh(B.D.) for showing the world a brand new method for opening cans without an opener. Honorable mention goes to Chris Roberts, Mike Hennessy, and Jeff Smith for their outstanding vocal performance with the band last Wednesday night at Cumnock. Good luck on finals and good times this summer from the brothers of TKE.

Deeper Briefer

Well here it is. Another year gone by and it's time for the summer fun to begin. But before we go we'd like to say a few last words, (typical of sorority girls to have the last word). First of all Happy Birthday to Gopher!!! Hope it was a good one. However you did miss alot of fun at Squeeze. And we're not talking music either. We'd like to express a hearty welcome to our two newest sisters, Colleen and Kathleen. You guys are going to make great sisters. Hope you didn't mind the pledging too much. We did try to make it as easy as possible. I'll bet you'll never forget that experience. We won't! Sprint. Thanks so much for being the perfect hostess for after the concert. Always remember. Never come between two girls from another sorority. You may end up getting slugged for it. You'll get enough practice with us. Psycho! Next time it's at your place. We'd like to thank the brothers of Delta Kappa Phi for an excellent party on Saturday night. It went great as usual. Thanks for the drenching from the fountain. We all appreciated it.

The sisters attended the Merrimack Regional's performance of The Importance of Being Earnest. We had a great time. It's about time that we did something cultural besides studying animal life. And we don't mean at the zoo. Congratulations to Huggs on her new found job. However we don't think that it's going to be very healthy for your checkbook. You know how much you like clothes. However we're sure that your sister Carol won't mind all the new clothes that she is going to get to borrow.

Ship Ahoy! Have fun on your cruise. Punzel. Bring some souvenirs. About 6'2" with blond hair, blue eyes, and bronzed ever so nicely ought to do just nicely. We'd be forever grateful. From the ocean we go to the dance floor with Tidy and her beau Bob. Goldie will be there keeping an eye on both of you so watch those hands. And she doesn't mean Bob's either. Have fun, guys!

Florida is where we are going to find Tidy and Goldie attending the sorority's convention with Tau Phi Epsilon fraternity. My, my, my. Aren't these girls going to have fun. Of course they are going for business (suuuurrrreeeee)! They'll give everyone their love there. Especially Tidy's mom's love to Pluto. He's soooooo cute! And Kym can't wait to get to her second home at Hampton Beach. Of course the lifeguards don't hurt much either. When are we going to get a chance. We mean at the lifeguards. Have fun in Boston, Kat. Don't forget where your honey is. We all know how inseparable you guys are.

And last but certainly not least, we're having one maybe two last parties of the semester. It's a F$*/9 Finals party with the Drama club and of course a few guys from Fitchburg will be on hand or in hand so to speak. Another great party sponsored by our club alcoholic notnAP.

If you would like to become a part of all this fun for next semester, please leave your name and box number and home address at Kym's box (5443) or Carol's box (6086) and we'll be glad to get in touch with you and to have you join us.

To everyone. Have a great and safe summer. See you next year, if we survive the summer.

With sisterly love,
Delta Phi Epsilon

Drama Dirt

Well we've certainly been busy in the last month or so...we seem to have left our mark on various sectors of the state. A belated congratulations to the cast and director of "Home At Six," Bob, Steph, Carol, Kym, Scott, Diane, Pete and Greg--you guys did an awesome job. And not only was the show a success, but the cast party also. And if anyone needs a place to crash, you can stay at Adams...condolences go out to Tom "Tequila" Verre and Laurie "eight shot" Eno--didn't anyone ever teach you not to play quarters with Swirl?...you know, $125.00 sure goes pretty far at the packy...by the way, Chuck, who was that woman that was trying to pick you up?...handwipes anyone?...let me tell you it was one very interesting ride home...and remember, if anyone needs a place to crash you can stay at Adam's (just don't tell his roommate).

Moving right along we plunged into preparations for Variety 87. Scott and Kathy--in spite of what you think, you both worked hard and we do appreciate it. Murphy's Law seemed to rule the evening...first the lights went up in flames (it was a big, big blaze)...then the flats fell--on top of Scott...well it could be worse--worse?--how worse?--do you know how it could be worse?...yes--we seemed to have run into a few dialogue snags in our Daffy skit...but hey, who keeps count...and then of course there is always the cast party...or would we say the very quiet cast get together in room 80?...anyway it could have gotten worse (which it did)...the less said the better. We would like to thank all the acts who participated in the show--you were mahvelous!

A select group of theater goers ventured forth to the M.R.T. to see their production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" last week, and all enjoyed the show. Hopefully our theater excursions will become more frequent next season.

As for the future, the Players were approached by the organizers of the annual Greek festival about doing some sort of production during the festival. We've decided to do Sophocle's Agamemnon. Auditions were held last night and good luck to all who tried out.

Of course we have many social gatherings planned for the summer so that we may further enhance our creative capabilities. Upcoming festivities include the first annual NotnAPian f$***& finals festival at Pete's house. Our annual beach or beached blast is also in the works for August. And lest we forget--Liquid Luau II--also known as Steph's continuation-second wind party is also in the planning stages. These along with many impromptu visits to the exclusive Club Coburn of Wakefield should make for an interesting summer.

Good luck and goodbye--see you next semester--and until then--TO THE FALLS!!!

Commencement Information 1987

The twelfth graduation of the University of Lowell will be held on Sunday, May 31. See below for site and time designations and rain contingency plans. If weather conditions necessitate, Dean King will announce rain contingency plans over local and Boston radio stations by 9:00 AM on Sunday, May 31. All announcements will be made through the following stations: WBZ, WHDH, WRKO (Boston), WOTW (Nashua), and WCAP and WLLH (Lowell). The University switchboard will be open by 7:30 AM for inquiries on Sunday, May 31 (Telephone 617-452-5000).

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Eligibility to Participate in Commencement Exercises

The following students are eligible to participate in graduation activities:

- (a) all students who have completed degree requirements since May 1986 and who have not attended the previous commencement exercise;
- (b) undergraduate students who anticipate completion of degree requirements by the end of the 1987 Summer Session; and,
- (c) graduate students who complete degree requirements by the end of the 1987 Spring Semester.

2. Financial Clearance

Students may not pick up academic attire, invitations or graduation tickets unless they have paid the commencement fee ($47 for undergraduates and $31 for graduate students). The Business Office will not clear students for graduation who fail to discharge all financial obligations to the University. Diplomas will be awarded at college ceremonies only to students who have been financially cleared.

3. Academic Attire

Academic attire is required for all participants in graduation exercises. Doctoral candidates are provided University attire. All other individuals may secure caps, gowns, and hoods at the University Bookstores (North campus colleges at North Campus Bookstore; South and West campus colleges at South Campus Bookstore) on the following dates:

Undergraduate Day Students	April 30 - May 15	9:00 AM to 4:00 PM
Graduate Students	May 6-15	9:00 AM to 4:00 PM
Continuing Education Students	May 4, 5, 6, 7 and May 6-15	6:30 PM to 8:00 PM 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM
Administration and Faculty	May 6-15	9:00 AM to 4:00 PM

NOTE: Latecomers are not guaranteed academic attire. Students, members of the administration, and faculty who delay their arrangements beyond May 16 must place their orders directly with University Cap and Gown, 486 Andover Street, So. Lawrence, MA (Tel. 686-4566).

4. Invitations and Tickets

Admission to the University commencement ceremony at the Lester Cushing Athletic Field (North Campus) does not require a special ticket and is open to all guests without limitation. In the event of rain, the University commencement ceremony will be held in the Costello Gymnasium and only one guest per student can be admitted to this event. Additional guests who hold tickets for college graduations and who wish to hear the university commencement ceremony will be accommodated at college graduation sites and other designated sites which have been equipped to receive a broadcast of the university indoor ceremony.

Students may secure general graduation invitations, rain tickets, and specific college tickets at their respective bookstores when they pick up their academic attire. Each student will receive FIVE general graduation invitations. These invitations, which will not admit guests to any of the scheduled events, are intended as personal graduation announcements only. If supplies permit, students may secure additional invitations from the office of the Dean of Students after May 21. Additionally, each student will receive ONE red rain ticket (which will admit the ticket holder to the indoor University ceremony in Costello Gymnasium) and FOUR color-coded college tickets (which will admit the ticket holder to the following: (1) designated parking lots on the North Campus,* (2) alternative sites for hearing the broadcast of the University commencement in the event that rain necessitates an indoor ceremony, and (3) individual college ceremonies which are held on North, South, and West campuses). Students who wish to invite more than four guests to their college ceremonies may do so. However, additional guests will not be admitted to college ceremonies until all ticket holders have been admitted.

*Parking is not reserved on the South and West campuses.

GRADUATION EVENTS

1. Senior/Parent Reception

On Saturday, May 30, the Senior Class will hold a Buffet Reception on the South Campus quadrangle for senior students, their guests, and members of the university faculty and administration. This reception will begin at 6:00 PM. A buffet dinner will be served from 6:30 PM until 8:30 PM in the adjoining dining hall and party tent. Music will be provided for dancing at the conclusion of the buffet. Tickets for this and other senior week events may be purchased at the North Student Information Center or at the Office of the Dean of Students, Cumnock Hall. Deadline for purchasing tickets for senior/parent buffet reception is May 22nd.

2. Graduation Exercises

This year's graduation will consist of two consecutive programs: (a) the University commencement ceremony and (b) individual college graduation ceremonies.

a. University Commencement Ceremony (See Map I and Map II)

All students must be in designated seating areas of Costello Gymnasium no later than 10:30 AM. Please note that unless it is raining (see "Rain contingency" plan below), guests will not be admitted to Costello Gymnasium. All guests should proceed directly to the Lester Cushing Athletic Field. After a brief Presidential address, students will process from Costello Gymnasium to designated areas of the Lester Cushing Athletic Field.

The University outdoor commencement ceremony, which is scheduled to begin at 11:45 AM and to end at 12:45 PM, will consist of the following: greetings from officials of the Commonwealth, recognition of students for academic excellence and university service, awarding of honorary and earned doctoral degrees, and a brief commencement address. Following the University outdoor ceremony, college faculties, graduating students and individuals holding color-coded college tickets should proceed immediately to areas designated for individual college ceremonies.

b. College Ceremonies (See Map III)

The organization and format for individual college graduation exercises will be explained to students by their college deans. The program format for each college graduation will be printed in the University Commencement program and will be distributed at both the Commencement and college graduation ceremonies. The following locations are designated for college graduations:

South Campus
HEALTH.....	Mahoney Gymnasium
LIBERAL ARTS.....	Durgin Concert Hall
MUSIC.....	Durgin Recital Hall
North Campus
ENGINEERING.....	Costello Gymnasium (rain location: Olney 150)
MANAGEMENT.....	Lester Cushing Athletic Field (rain location: Fox Dining Hall)
SCIENCE.....	Cumnock Auditorium
West Campus
EDUCATION.....	Campus Common

3. Rain contingency (See Map III)

If rain occurs, students and guests must be assembled in designated seating areas of Costello Gymnasium no later than 10:30 AM. Guests who hold red rain tickets will be admitted to Costello Gymnasium beginning at 9:30 AM. Seating will not be permitted after 10:30 AM. GUESTS WITHOUT RED RAIN TICKETS should assemble at the sites of college ceremonies where the University of Lowell radio station, WJUL, 91.5 FM, will broadcast the commencement program.

4. Parking (See Map III)

Because parking will be limited, we ask each student and his/her guests to use one automobile if possible. Color-coded tickets for college ceremonies also will authorize admission to appropriate parking areas on the North Campus. Parking has been assigned by college on the North Campus so that automobiles will be parked in the vicinity of the last event which students and their guests will attend. Parking on the South Campus is not regulated.

Automobile Groupings	North Campus Parking Areas	Color-Coded Tickets
Health, Liberal Arts, Music, Education	Area 1	White
Engineering	Area 2	Orange
Handicapped	Area 3	Blue
Science	Areas 4, 5, 6	Yellow
Trustees, Honored Guests, and Platform Party	Area 7	Green
Management	Area 8	Brown
Alumni	Area 9	Pink
Faculty	Area 10	Blue

Since parking on all streets adjacent to the North Campus is governed by resident parking regulations of the City of Lowell, we urge students and guests to park their automobiles in designated University parking lots only.

5. Buses

Beginning at 9:00 AM shuttle buses will operate between Fox Hall and Costello Gymnasium for the Alumni groups and for members of the College of Management and their guests. Also, several shuttle buses will operate between South Campus and Costello Gymnasium for South and West campus students and their guests who prefer to park on the South Campus.

6. Assembly Arrangements

Unless college deans notify students to the contrary, there will be no rehearsal for any graduation exercise. Accordingly, the Commencement Committee requests all participants to cooperate fully with directions of designated faculty and student marshals.

7. Regular Schedule of Graduation Events

9:30.....	Doors to Costello Gymnasium Open
10:30.....	Students Assemble in Costello Gymnasium, Guests Assemble on Athletic Field
11:00.....	Processional Begins from Gymnasium to University Commencement Area at Lester Cushing Field

Driver's Corner

If you happened to go by the south campus parking lot on Sunday April 26th and saw what appeared to be some nut driving aimlessly around a bunch of highway cones through the lot, you're almost right. Twenty-seven drivers (nuts) participated in the best ULowell Sports Car Club autocross of the year. It was the most competitive autocross ever with winners being decided by one hundredth of a second. The Mazda RX-7 Club of New England was back in an attempt to show us how its done. Meanwhile many new people showed up for their first experience autocrossing. The Ford/Chevy battle went back and forth throughout the day in class B and class E. When the results were in both sides ended up with trophies but, all the drivers in both those classes swore to be back to make it a clean sweep next time. We will all be waiting to see if the Saleen Mustang can pull it off and miss the one cone that cost him the trophy. Maybe the Chevys of class E will keep the rear of their car behind their front end, although coming across the finish line backwards was a pretty neat trick. The ULSCC would like to thank the neighbors around the south lot for their cooperation and the Mazda Club for help with course work. No date has been set for the next event, but it will be after finals. For more info on future events please check the ULSCC bulletin board outside the north mailroom, go to a ULSCC meeting or contact Erik at 475-9175. ULSCC meetings are every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Fox 523. ULSCC election results will also be posted on the club bulletin board.

A.I.D.S. - Statistics

Even though A.I.D.S. seems to have gone out of style with the media, it continues to be a dangerous disease and is still out there as large as life, lurking and multiplying. I have heard many a strange rumor about A.I.D.S. and now that it's media coverage has dwindled, I feel that the truth should be known. So, without further ado, here are the recent statistics as collected by the Massachusetts Centers for Disease Control.

As of April 1, 1987 there are about 33,000 cases of A.I.D.S. in the United States; roughly 13 per 10,000 people. In Massachusetts there are 715 cases; again roughly 13 per 10,000 people.

The A.I.D.S. patient group can be broken down into seven subgroups according to activities and conditions highly correlated with the disease.

These groups are:

- 69% homosexual/ bisexual men
- 12% intravenous drug users
- 5% both of the above
- 7% heterosexuals
- 3% transfusion related
- 1% hemophiliacs
- 3% unknown

A.I.D.S. can be transmitted by blood to blood contact. This means if you have an open cut anywhere; skin, mouth, anus, genitals, you can get the disease.

A.I.D.S. can also be transmitted through bodily fluids such as semen, vaginal secretions and saliva, although information is incomplete about the latter form, through saliva.

A.I.D.S. cannot be transmitted by skin contact or by being close to an infected person.

With these facts in mind, remember: CARRY CONDOMS 'CAUSE A.I.D.S. KILLS.

Spring Concert: Fun Filled ..... Fiscal Flop

Tom Kershaw

The concert rendition of Spring Carnival last Thursday spotlighted the high and low point of the year for the Activities Commission. The A.C. should look closely at what went wrong, and right, as new leadership and a new year comes to room 412.

On the high side the A.C. is to be commended for the exhaustive hours spent in planning and producing the show, amidst the confusion and questions of students and administrators. Faced with what to do after attempts to retain a "carnival" failed, the A.C. made a final run at an event that could be enjoyed by anyone. Squeeze and The Truth played a blend of rythm and lyrics that cross many musical boundaries. Good reviews even came from the Dean's Office.

Furthermore, the A.C. has shown that concerts and events of this size and caliber can be presented at Tulley Forum. A facility that has long been left short of its potential and is not restricted to extravaganzas on ice. The sizable crowd of 3500 (with room for 5000 easily) danced and sang all night almost without incident. Two students were taken into protective custody prior to the show's opening. A round of applause for all those in attendance who decided to have a good time with what was available.

On the down side, Spring Carnival as it is known did not occur. Answers as to its status for next year are still speculative, but hopeful. University Day came and went with little or no activity to be found on campus. It is the directive of the Board of Trustees that a university wide day of activity is to take place.

The Activities Commission owes this to the students and further still owes the events and activities whoose budgets were stripped to pay for the high cost of the concert. Over $9000 was transfered from the University Week and Special Entertainment line items to the Spring Carnival budget, along with other transfers to cover concert costs. The noticeable lack of events over the past year provided for the large amount of funds available for use at year end.

Like all major student groups the actions of the leaders and representatives should be in the best interest of the students. Faced with a loss of location and considerable time constraints the A.C. made a decision to give the students something for their money. In retrospect the event itself proved to be a good choice. However, the theory of starving Peter to pay Paul is not one that lends itself to repeated use. And fixing budget overruns by fund transfer should not be considered a panacea for future problems.

Students Jailed

On April 27, 1987, seven of our members were arrested as a result of a civil Disobedience action at CIA headquarters in Langley VA. Among those arrested were Sociology majors Cheryl Millet and Robert Hegarty. Also arrested were alumni Douglas Ward and Kenneth Scrabble, as well as grad student Richard Trubey. We are soliciting $25 donations, or any amount deemed reasonable therof, to defray our upcoming legal expenses. There is a similar funding drive being conducted by our Houston, Texas, contingent. Six of us are facing a June 1, court date, while the seventh, Ken Scrabble has been railroaded through the system. Ken's court date has been set for late June, and itis anticipated his fines will exceed our own. We need to raise about $2000 to cover as much of our expenses as possible, excluding the possibility of jail time. Please make checks out to: Greater Lowell "Big Time" Defense Fund. Thank you, your consideration and support is appreciated.

Letters to the Editor:

I was brainwashed early in life to believe that churchgoing was very serious business. In fact, it was so serious that my sometimes irreverent father regularly absented himself from the practice. Scrubbed, buttoned into our best clothes, and wearing shoes which had been polished the night before, my siblings and I were led to church on Sunday morning by my mother with solemn precision and order.

We were reminded regularly that proper behavior in church required the absence of pinching, slouching, paper crumbling, unnecessary page turning, staring, and -God forbid- any hint of a giggle or laugh. According to my mother, nothing in church was ever funny or even faintly amusing. Her view was shared by the Pre-Vatican II Roman Catholic priests and nuns of my youth, who frequently related stories about the child "who was just about your age," who "misbelieved and giggled" in church, only to be "struck down right there in the pew" by the very hand of God, and made for the rest of the poor soul's days, nothing less than a laughing idiot. The general agreement between my mother and the church concurred with Mark Twain's assessment that "There is no humor in heaven."

It has taken a number of years and not a few worship-inspired laughs to free myself of this Burden of solemnity, but I think I have it just about conquered. I knew its power was waning, several Sundays ago, when, at the end of a very difficult Rite I Eucharistic service, with all of its beautiful but very difficult linguistic flourishes, I blew it!

Raising my hand with the majesty befitting the grandiosity of the language, I open my mouth to speak the final benediction, and heard myself say "and now, may the peath with passeth all understanding..." for just a few seconds, I was mortified to see more than a few smiles cross the faces of the people in the congregation. With blessed speed, however, that feeling left, and I stopped long enough to laugh at myself - right there in front of God and everyone! I cleared my throat and gave it another try but by now, it didn't matter. The blessing from God came that Sunday, not in the majesty of the language, but in the beautiful sound of human laughter. It was a thoroughly exhilarating experience.

Let's agree to have more smiles and our share of laughs in worship. Let's allow giggles and even a good-natured pinch or two. Let's decide that worship can be fun and sometimes even funny. Indeed, let's be human. We are, after all, living proof that God has a remarkable sense of humor.

The Reverend Elizabeth Kaeton
Chaplain, U.L.C.M.

Recently I found myself stranded in Washington's Dulles airport. My flight to Boston had been delayed by several hours and like many other people in that terminal, I had nothing to do for several hours but sit and stare at the walls. I quickly decided that I should find something to read, so I combed the small tables scattered throughout the terminal for anything that looked interesting. It wasn't long before I landed upon a copy of that day's Miami Herald. Not that I think the Miami Herald is anything special, but it does sound impressive if you can make conversation with the person next to you by prefacing at least one remark with, "As I was reading in the Miami Herald today..."

There was one article in the paper that caught my attention. It was a story about some Christians that had been arrested in a West Palm Beach shopping mall. Apparently, they were being obnoxious and were force feeding the gospel down the mall patrons' throats. The mall's owners had some of these evangelists arrested.

The author of the article went on to say that this was apparently the standard operating procedure for this group. They considered their campaign a success when some of their group members were arrested.

I don't know about you, but I have both an ethical and a moral problem (not to mention a theological problem) with such evangelists. Ethically, it just isn't right to force your beliefs on someone who doesn't want to listen to them. Even though what we want people to hear may be true, it is wrong to force people to listen to us if they don't want to. Neither Jesus nor the Apostles ever forced anyone to listen to them. When they proclaimed the gospel, it was always in a public place, where attendance was voluntary. No one was ever forced to listen to the gospel if they didn't want to listen.

I also see a moral problem with the method of these evangelists. It seems to me that they show a total lack of compassion and concern for individuals. Floyd McClung has well said, "People don't care how much we know until they know how much we care." If there was anything that stood out about Jesus' ministry, it was his love for people. Over and over again in the gospels we read of Jesus' compassion for people who had needs. Many times He met their need even though they chose not to follow him. It seems that the whole essence of the gospel is found in what is probably the New Testament's most famous verse, John 3:16, "For God so loved the world that He gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life."

Personally, I would be more than happy to share my faith with you, if you ask me to. You may see me sitting at a book table or I may offer some literature. But, I will never roam the dorms late at night looking for victims to bite. I will never stalk you until you collapse in utter exhaustion. If you choose not to listen to me, I will respect your decision. You have my word on it.

Rev. Arthur H. Brown, Director
Campus Ambassadors

FLOOD-TIME IS PARTY-TIME FOR DEANS

Blowgun and Monarch flaunt rules after warning students

By Harry Bolt

Despite administrative warnings in the Disconnecter forbidding students from shooting the rapids of the Merrimack River, some top-level members of the university community apparently saw fit to exclude themselves from the restriction. Disconnecter photographer Jim Tamale snapped this incriminating shot of joyriding U. Ohwell President William Blowgun and Dean of Students Leo Monarch as they careered over the Hunt Falls dam in a canoe. It remains unknown how far upriver the two entered the river, or how far they went.

During the unusually severe flooding the height of the river rose to a record 7 feet above normal, prompting warnings to students from the administration on the dangers of attempting to ride the powerful currents, which boil over a treacherous rocky section near the University Ave. bridge.

After the photo was taken the adventurers disappeared around a bend and presumably safely navigated the difficult stretch of river without mishap.

The naughty pair refused to comment on the incident, which has irreparably damaged the credibility of the administration in the eyes of the students.

"They tell us not to ride the rapids because it's supposed to be so dangerous and then they go out and do it—next thing you know we'll be finding out they had Spring Carnival without us," said cheesed off English major Barbarous Moleton.

Other students and administrators echoed those sentiments. Chancellor of Higher Education Franklyn Benjamin stated that disciplinary action would be considered. "Those clowns weren't even wearing life jackets—what kind of an example is that for students?" The stunt received the full support of the Inert Fraternity Sorority Council, who conceded that "Hey—boys will be boys."

The clandestine canoe voyage was phoned in to the Disconnecter by Scott Munchem during a dry-land workout with the crew team near the boat house, which sits alongside the Merrimack. "We saw them coming downriver toward the falls," he said, "and we just couldn't believe it. Here we are confined to dry land because of the rapids, then we see them coming downriver like it was Deliverance or something.

Secretaries for Dean Monarch and President Blowgun both said that the two have been under a lot of stress since the fire that levelled most of the university's new classroom space several weeks ago. "I think it's good that they were able to enjoy themselves like that," stated a secretary in the dean of student's office. "Ever since that awful fire it's been hell around here. I'm glad they let off some steam."

Circulation man missing: Disconnecter staff buried alive!

Staff members are at a loss—only Mike knows where the postage stamps are.

Search continues for key staff member

By Harry Bolt

State and local police so far are baffled as to the location of U. Ohwell student and Disconnecter circulation manager Mike "Which way did he go?" Coffee.

Coffee has been missing for over four weeks now, and his absence is being particularly felt in the office of the Disconnecter in Box 666. Coffee is responsible for sorting and bundling the hundreds of copies of the Disconnecter that are sent to subscribers across the country each week. His sudden disappearance has friends and relatives worried because they have not received their copies of the Disconnecter for well over a month now.

What's more, those undelivered copies have accumulated weekly until the office of the Disconnecter has become paralyzed by the sheer number of papers that now cover every inch of the room. And still more copies are expected when this week's issue arrives. Coffee was the only member of the staff who had mastered the complex mailing procedure.

Says Disconnecter editor Tom Rickshaw, "I hope nothing has happened to Mike. We're starting to suspect foul play, although I hope that's not what happened. Unfortunately his skill at circulation makes him a prime target of kidnapping by any of the major newspapers. I don't know what we're going to do if he doesn't turn up soon."

The huge piles of paper in the office are a concern because other staff members are feared buried under some of them and they may not be found until next semester.

Plans to locate the missing person include a "Find Coffee" rally on the steps of Bedrock Hall, as well as a milk-carton campaign. Anyone with information on his whereabouts should call the Disconnecter as soon as possible before operations come to a complete stop. It's getting pretty hard to work in the office and the secretaries are starting to complain that they can't find the computer terminals anymore under the debris.

Missing Circulation Manager Mike "Which way did he go?" Coffee is shown here in the most recent staff photo available. Anyone who has seen him should contact the Disconnecter.

Prophecies plague university

Administrative coverup seems likely

By Hiraldo Mahalavera

It all happened within a month. First the cockroaches swarmed through Box Hall, then a 10-alarm blaze destroyed future U. Ohwell classrooms, and finally a catastrophic flood changes the placid Merimack into a menacing torrent.

Coincidence? Or the fulfillment of ancient prophecies foretold long ago.

In October of 1983 during groundbreaking for the hydroelectric plant, an ancient tablet was unearthed, but the university did not go public with the find. However, inscribed on the clay tablet are words of warning dating back to biblical times, claims U. Ohwell campus faith healer Elizabeth Swaggert, who knew about the tablet all along but has only now stepped forward with the startling news. But the stone, which was stored on the fourth floor of Box Hall, was somehow lost while the charismatic Swaggert was on vacation.

Swaggert, founder of the Campus Ministry and Faith Healing Center believes the administration stole the artifact to cover up the message of doom it contained for the university. "It clearly says, 'And Yahweh shall send three plagues to cleanse the Ohwell school,'" stated Swaggert. She also pointed out that the prophecy was confirmed later in the bible, "Job wrote that Jehovah would one day become 'big-time PO'd about the poor voter turnout at SGA elections, and He would enact His prophecies upon the evil masses.'"

Swaggert confirms that the administration was aware of the prophecy as soon as the clay tablet was unearthed, but they "chose to hide the fact because of the effect they feared it would have on admissions."

Dean Monarch denied the charges, stating, "This is just a ploy by Middlesex Community College to scare the university into selling its property. Nothing more than a case of holy terrorism."

Swaggert disagrees, and says that the catastrophes were triggered by the picture of Moses carrying the Ten Commandments on the front of the Disconnecter last semester. Since coming forward with the admissions concerning the disasters she has been reassigned to the Fiji Islands.

Blowgun undresses class of '87

By Paula Grab-me and Boozin' Helium Staff Biters

Hesitant Blowgun met with the wiener class in Bedrock Hall last Thursday at 4:00 a.m. and dismissed all wiener events including commencement and wiener week. Blowgun also discussed Ohwell's standing after the mill fire.

U. Ohwell's standing after the fire

"Obviously," said the beleaguered hesitant, "Most of U. Ohwell is no longer standing after the fire." Hesitant Blowgun met with the Board of Trustees Wednesday night to discuss U. Ohwell's plan concerning the disastrous fire which destroyed the mill property that the university had no intention of purchasing anyway.

Commencement agenda

Blowgun stated, "you are the most disgusting, disfigured nudist body that I have ever seen in my twenty years of preaching here; simply one of the worst. And when we get to commencement, that's exactly what I want the world to know." Hesitant Blowgun expects all wieners to portray their worst behavior by disregarding all of the university's rules and regulations during wiener week, as well as all of the rules and manners your parents have ever taught you.

Blowgun announced that the commencement speaker will be Vanna White, who has made firm commitments to help the male population at Ohwell consummate their graduation activities.

1) Will the athletic supporters be ready in time for graduation?

"We have the assurance of the Burp-recker of Obscenities [Mr. Don Juan Grizzlybuns] that every effort will be made to have sodomy down on the university's field by the 20-21st of April at the latest. Whether or not athletic supporters will be utilized on the field is a matter of personal preference," snarled Dr. Bag-her.

"The university is planning a number of surprises for commencement, and you will be totally wiped out, babe, by this gnarly scene of decadence and immorality, and like, wow man, it will be like trippen-dicular and totally tass," drawled Bag-her.

Hesitant Blowgun also added that, "The sodomy can be out on the field—the only real problem is heavy rains in late April which will cause the sodomists to slide on the field due to lack of substantial traction," slurred Blowgun.

2) Will there be transvestites from Box Hall at the commencement activities? Dean Monarch snorted that there will be transvestites from Box Hall at commencement activities throughout the day, and most likely, you will know who they are.

3) Has Spring Carnival breathed its last?

Hesitant Blowgun's response to this frank question was, "Ayup."

Spike Mauley discusses wiener week

Spike Mauley, hesitant of the class of 1987, began his tantrum by bellowing the schedule of wiener events which will occur May 25-30th. The events are as follows:

1) Monday, May 25: Leech by day (All suckers are urged to attend.) Monday night, Boston by fright (Kenmore is Square)

2) Tuesday, May 26: Back by popular demand, Cowmooooon night and the Vervyevil Nana (just like the good 'ol days). Costs are $150/wiener. (Hey, we gotta make a buck somewhere.)

3) Wednesday, May 27: Also back by popular demand, the Lost-in-the-Harbor Cruise. We guarantee that you won't come back. Costs are $0.10/wiener.

4) Thursday, May 28: Wiener Ball in the the Combat Zone. Costs vary, depending on who you are with.

5) Friday, May 29: Bum-eye association barbeque with wieners and 50-100 year bum-eyes of U Ohwell. We can assure you that you won't see anything. Costs are invisible but phenomenal. Also, "Last Rash with Grim Flunk-it" will be held at night at the Ohwell Welks Club. Costs are $2/wiener.

6) Saturday, May 30: Parent/Weiner Reception in the South Campus gateria. With the exception of the Weiner Ball, tickles will only be sold to those graduating nudists with a fake ID. Rubber checks will be accepted for each wiener event and should be made payable to: Paula Grab-me and Boozin' Helium of the University of Ohwell's Disconnecter. If you can manage to steal your parents' credit cards (or anyone else's for that matter) they will also be gleefully accepted but unfortunately, they cannot be returned.

Tom Tequila to teach "Feline Illustration" at U. Ohwell

After much controversy, self-taught artist and cartoonist Tom Tequila will teach a course on drawing human and feline anatomy next semester. It will be offered only to art majors who have previously taken Drawing I or are emotionally unstable in regards to dealing with members of the opposite sex.

Mr. Tequila, who is originally from Middleboro MA, the cranberry capital of the world, says that he came to the university because they let him. "Back home" says Tom, "They couldn't handle anthropomorphic erotica. The concept of a human that looks like a cat just wasn't accepted." Tom has also had trouble with conservative and religious groups in other towns. "I'm very religious but not they way they want me to be. It's like when somebody keeps forcing you to listen to music that they think is really great. If I had chosen to listen to this music on my own I would probably have liked it, but because they're stuffing it in my face I want to kill them. Like this kid who kept making me listen to Rush, what was that song? Huck Finn? Whatever. Well I really hate Rush now and I always make fun of Geddy Lee because he looks like my cousin Pam, actually he looks like my cousin Amy too because they're twins but that's beside the point, I heard that song on the radio the other day and I actually enjoyed it. Weird, huh? What were we talking about?"

Tom also met with some resistance here at the university from the canine support group C.O.A.L.S. who consider Tom's work as nothing more than kitty porn. Tom's reply to these groups was "My work represents the natural beauty of the female body using the cat as a universally accepted symbol of fertility and sensuality in a highly idealized and romanticized manner—you bastards."

The course will be centered around the development of each individual's personal ideas of what beauty is by examining the work of anthropomorphic artists such as Reed Waller and Steven A. Gallacci. The ethics of the humanistic portrayal of cats will also be examined. Tom states, "Cats like Davis' Garfield and Breathed's Bill give the species a bad name. Very few cats that I have taken out to dinner or to a movie or even an intimate evening at home say 'Oop Ack' or shed all over my beanbag chair."

Students taking Feline Illustration will experiment with various techniques using different mediums. "First off" states Tom, "We'll just be doing contour and gesture drawings in pencil with some cheese popcorn and Coke during break, but by the end of the semester we should have worked our way up to larger-than-life cubist oil paintings that make radical political statements with a complete six course dinner with fingerbowl and everything."

Although the controversy seems to have died down since the addition of Feline Illustration to the course schedule, Tom is sure that it's far from over. "Yeah, I've won this round but there are still plenty of Hare Krishnas out there that want to see me dead."

Example of the type of work to be done in the new Feline Illustration course to be offered next semester.

Tired of meeting only the nerds, jerks and losers?

So was I.

That's why I gave up on the University of Ohwell. I mean just look at the clown with me in this picture. As a female here this is what I have to put up with day in and day out. Where are all the decent men at this school, anyway? Let's face it, the hockey scene wears a little thin after a while. That's why I joined the Disconnect—you know, meet a few people, hang out, stuff some pizza down my neck and basically just hide out behind my advertising desk and scope. And so far it's been okay, you know what I mean? As long as they don't get hold of some picture and use it in the Disconnect. I'd probably kill if they did that. Oh, well—what are the chances of that?

Puppy Love ....A Short Tale

One day on my way home from the underground grocers I spied an allegory so astonishing that I unhesitatingly took the opportunity to fry myself a double cheeseburger and topped it off quickly with the remains of my dead puppy Bruce, who met his maker on a Saturday back in July when he walked into a set of rotating surgical-steel blades that some kids had stupidly left on the sidewalk. He had drawn quite a large crowd of the curious and morbid when an exciting lady I saved for last, and I still have from the JSCA appeared and scooped him into her purse. That time I know not from where my luck came but imagine my joy when that dear lady appeared at my front door and poured Bruce into my cupped palms. On my way to the refrigerator I thought I could detect a gleam in what was left of one of his jet black eyes. I enjoyed that cheeseburger more than any I had ever had before or am likely to have again. The bit of forepaw that hung out from under the bun I saved for last, and I still have that bone over my bed to this day.

Theologian asks society: civil law or moral consciousness?

By Chuck Mahaleris
News Editor

He is the first generation that has the capacity to threaten the vision of God. This was just one of the points Rev. J. Bryan Hehir brought forward during what the Catholic Center hopes will be the first of the annual Newman Lectures. During his lecture, the 1984 U. Lowell Honorary Degree recipient questioned the students and public who gathered in Duggan Hall last Wednesday about the decline in religious faith and the loss of moral values in society. Hehir, who is a member of the U.S. National Council on the Arts and the U.S. National Council on the Humanities, is a member of the U.S. National Council on the Arts and the U.S. National Council on the Humanities. # Similarities between newspaper name and local highway have caused confusion and accidental death

Lowell Connector

- Length: Several miles
- Width: 150 feet
- Location: Ohwell
- Color: White on black
- Speed limit: 55 MPH
- Distinguishing features: Moving vehicles, tar, road signs, dead cats.
- Comments: Connects with routes 3 and 495. Extremely hazardous and undesirable to read. Recommended mainly for trips to Chelmsford.

The fact that one is a weekly college paper and the other is a limited access highway has not stopped some students and local residents from confusing the similarly named highway the Lowell Connector with the college newspaper the ULowell Connector. At the very least the reported cases of mistaken identity have embarrassed certain individuals, but in a few cases serious injury and even death has resulted from the careless mistake that is made more often than many people realize. Intense embarrassment has been the usual result when City of Lowell and Campus Police pull over persons who have attempted to drive home on the ULowell Connector, not realizing in their haste that it was only the two foot long (measured from left edge to right edge when open) student newspaper of the University of Ohwell.

However, those who have made the converse error have not fared as well. People who have been nearsighted enough to attempt reading the Lowell Connector, thinking it was in fact the ULowell Connector, have been lucky to escape serious injury, since obviously it has cars doing sixty miles per hour on it and was not meant to be read.

Authorities are at a loss to explain how this unfortunate situation can be alleviated, other than reminding people to keep their eyes open and pay more attention to what they are doing. The Disconnecter, ever conscious of its responsibilities to society, and in the interests of public safety, presents this article for the education of the masses.

ULowell Connector

- Length: 96 picas
- Width: 59 picas
- Location: Mailrooms
- Color: Black on white
- Speed limit: None
- Distinguishing features: Photos, stories, lots of ads, personals, more ads, no dead cats.
- Comments: Not intended for transportation. Extremely safe, even beneficial, to read. Seat belts, Mass liscense not required.

Residence Strife

STIFF SPOTLIGHT

"I really blew chunks last night," says Box Hall Resident Advisor Thomas Bore, "I'm talkin' the soup that eats like a meal, technicolor yawn, heave city!" But a minor setback such as this won't stand in the way of our favorite beer gulping buddy who frequently drinks everyone in the Lower Towers under the table! Tom remarks "Hey, Box cafeteria food is better in reverse!"

Completing at least 2 electives is Tom's main goal here at U Ohwell although he still devotes the majority of his time to running around the halls in his skivvies while humming such classic tunes as "Teenage Wasteland" and "Jet—Boy, Jet—Girl." Besides keeping the residents entertained with his antics, Tom can also be seen putting up those "Female model wanted" posters around campus.

Tom has recently been featured in "Science Digest" as the first human being to break the .4/blood alcohol barrier. "It's like the 4 minute mile," says Tom, "Now that I've done it, everyone will start doing it!"

Tom Bore is yet another retching example of our Resident Life Staff.

Thomas Bore—Residence Hall Advisor.

We all know we're just doing time until we get that degree. Why slave for a B in "Introduction to the Applied Dynamics of Static Transverse Vectors" when everyone knows that the job search boils down to who you know? In the Real World no one cares if you can quote the electromagnetic theory of light propagation or refute Plato's Republic. Let's face it, if you thought classes had anything to do with landing a job you'd be cramming daily instead of couch spudding with Ward and the Beaver. Really all we're doing is serving a prison sentence of sorts.

So as long as we're stuck here wouldn't it be great to take some practical courses? Courses that might relate to the here and now? That might justify that 8 a.m. slog across the Merrimack? That might even help us to cope with the enigma of ULowell itself? Sure it would. So with that in mind, would the administration kindly direct its attention to:

Some New Courses We'd Like to See at the University of Ohwell

47.341 Metaphysics and the Shuttle Bus Effect

This 300-level course explores abstract phenomena such as the shuttle bus schedule, and discusses why the bus leaves just before you get to the stop. Also focuses on why it's quicker to just walk.

47.202 The Vax and God

Can a supreme being exist in a world where people in the third world struggle for existence without modems? An interdisciplinary philosophy course that also outlines what consolation the major religions have to offer the student programmer whose work is shot straight to Hell when the system crashes.

47.212 The Eternal Questions

Open debate on timeless topics: Is peace economically feasible? Does sex promote promiscuity? Should the Merrimack be filled for parking space? Will that girl on South Campus ever stop wearing mini skirts?

32.495 Commuter Science

Finally, college credit for the toughest course ULowell has to offer—getting there. Includes a creative parking seminar. Lab fee.

00.205 Intro to Meal Plan

This basic course touches on the morality of leftovers, basic first aid and item identification. You must be on the meal plan to register. Finals will not be waived on account of food poisoning.

23.304 Coping With Crisis

How many times has this happened to you? Your roommate eats all the Fig Newtons. Or your closest friends are ignoring you after the ass you made of yourself last night at the PSC. Or you open the Connector and there's your innocent name splashed sordidly all over the Personals. A seminar on how to cope with everyday disasters.

62.101 The Modern Food Fight

An introductory course covering everything needed to succeed in the modern food fight arena. Class discussion centers on tactics: "dense pack" versus "anti-personnel" foods, offensive and defensive use of trays, and ethical approaches to bystanders.

47.302 Existentialism and Gilligan's Island

A philosophical approach to the survivors of the 'Minnow' disaster: Is the Skipper a reflection of society's dependence on toaster ovens? Was the Professor symbolic of a fundamental shift in public attitudes toward plaid? Was Gilligan getting any?

41.202 Practicum—Finding Your Advisor

A directed studies program which provides valuable experience for students seeking careers in the field of investigative police work. Lengthy stakeouts and off-campus pursuit may be required as you track down your man—and then wonder why you bothered. Requires permission of Campus Police.

"Moosh" headquarters in Southwick Hall

Advancement of "Moosh"

The University of Ohwell is proud to announce the appointment of the new "Moosh" officers. But the big question is: What, Who, Where, and Why? Other big questions are, what can "Moosh" do for me? Can I put it on my resume? Who are the prominent members who have joined in the past? What time is it?

"Moosh" was designed to give those students who haven't got a clue in life an even lesser chance of obtaining one. The average reader would have stopped reading this article by now, but since you read on I feel compelled to write more.

How to Become a "Moosh":

- 1) "Moosh" meetings are held on the first Saturday of each month. (Hint: Don't plan on attending, nobody knows where they're held.)
- 2) Where does "Moosh" get its funding? (Skip that, I let my fingers do the walking and they got lost.)
- 3) Real "Mooshes" don't eat quiche.
- 4) Real "Mooshes" only pretend to be funny.
- 5) A "Moosh" never drinks, fornicates, socialize, or anything else that might be confused with having a good time, unless it's free of course.
- 6) One must achieve a supreme level of "Mooshdom" before consideration of "Moosh" candidacy is allowed. (See official book for a more complete description. Directions will follow.)
- 7) "Mooshes" frequently take the underdogs viewpoint unless there is a chance for personal gain. (i.e. support the cause only if it supports you.)
- 8) The qualifications for becoming a "Moosh" are subject to change without any notice. This protects the general "Moosh" interest, whatever it may be.

The official book can be found on the top right hand corner of a closet shelf in the tallest building on either Clarendon or Warendon Sts. in downtown Boston, MA. (If found please send to Grandpa Moosh, c/o N-SMC, UOhwell. No collect postage please.)

HEAVY METAL COMICS FROM HELL

© 1987 by respective artists    Written by T. Verre and C. Mahaleris

In a remote lab somewhere on north Campus, the Evil Comics Editor devises his most sinister plot to date! (Why anyone would want to date a plot, though, I don't know!)

With These Connector Comics Clones I will finally be able to finish off all of the Comics! It will be impossible for the Characters to destroy their own Pseudoselves, so the clones can easily wreak havoc within the very bowels of each strip!!

HAR HAR HAR yuk!

HATE HAPPINESS

Holy Smokes!! A Clown Clone! looks like he's really done it this time! We'd better hurry up and do something!

You're right! The Bastard has made it so that we won't be able to defend ourselves in our own strips! We'll just have to switch!

Good Idea! We'll trash those fakes!

And so our heroes (and Bonzo) put their Master Plan into Action!

and it was that year, at the annual Spring Shedding Festival, that the Evil Comics Editor released his newest and most deadly creation.

NOTES: not a real Crittur.
NOTES: Budweiser: not real beer.

PARTY!

and the new guy brought the beer!

NAB!!

well, uh... I can explain.

hey! this beer's green!

Alright you Little Shit, your days of bartending are OVER!

GREEN BEER?! IS THIS SOME KIND OF ETHNIC SLUR?! you got something against the IRISH?!

it was cheap, and i didn't...

SQUEEZE (not the group)

it's flat too!

Friffin HAIRBALL!

flat, green Bud, for christ's sake!

who'dya expect? this is Lowell.

UNIVERSITY Misfit MANOR

Knock Knock Knock

C'mon AND OPEN UP ALREADY!

KATHOOP PLOP SLAM

Y COW

HEY LOOK KRANG, STAR TREK TRIBBLES JUST KICKED IN OUR FRONT DOOR!

4-30-87

F'YOU SAY SO.

OK, KILL 'EM.

HATE HAPPINESS

NO! WAIT! HE'S NOT THE REAL BONZO!

S'ALL RIGHT. THIS ONE'S FUNNIER.

SCATTER

But how do we even stop Bonzo?

GET AWAY FROM THAT YOU...

Hey, what about this switch on his back?

OFF

...little Slut...

STOP RIGHT THERE FIEND!

AAAAA

PETE! Who is...

That's not Pete, Miss

CURSE YOU, CLOWN! I'll Destroy this Strip yet!!

WHAP!

CRACK!

Oh, Clownman! How can I ever repay you?

I'll think of something!

Whoops! That was supposed to be a "Bash" Not a "Crack"

thus our heroes gain the upper hand as the Evil Comics Editor realizes that he has lost. So it looks like there will be a happy ending for the Connector Comics! (unless there's a major plot twist in the next few frames) and they don't take kindly to comic-strip rapists like you!

OKAY SCUMBAG! The game's over and you lose! Well! You'll be hard pressed to terrorize anybody in the State Pen!

OUCH! WATCH YOUR FOOT

Stop Right there! One move and the Shnoz gets it!

G-G-Guys, I think he m-m-means it!

MAJOR PLOT TWIST

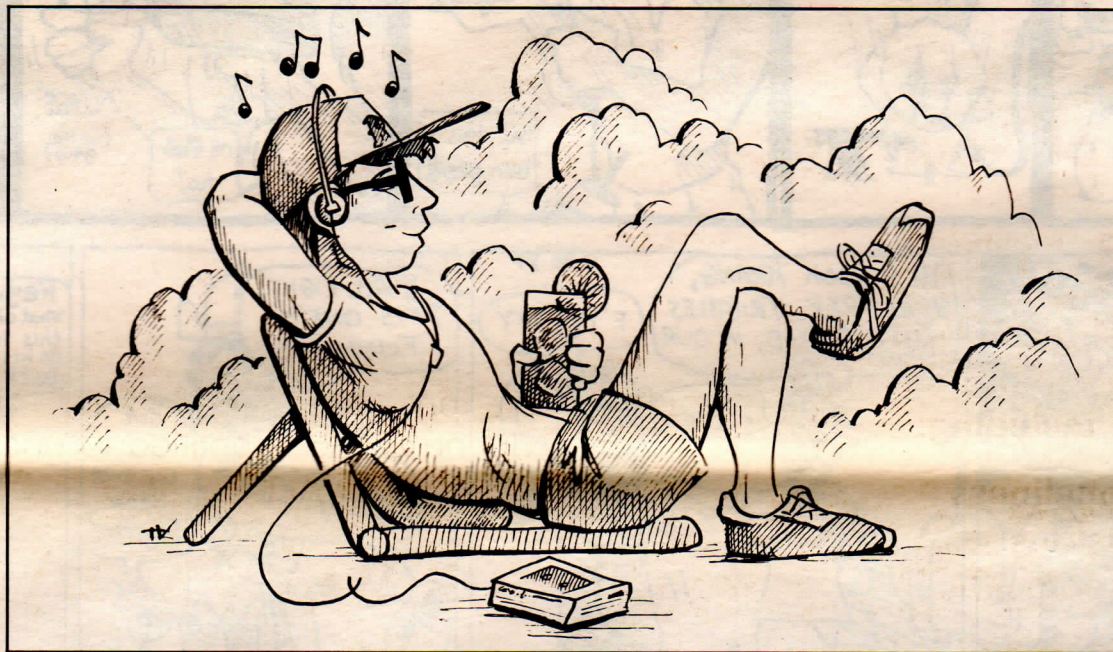

THE EVIL COMICS EDITOR makes Good his Escape, BUT what will happen to poor Shnoz over summer vacation? Will The Critturs be able to get decent tans? Will Bonzo be sued by any high ranking Political officials? Will Pete finally go out and buy a shirt? If you're not graduating then you just might find out next semester!

"THINGS JUST WON'T BE THE SAME AFTER YOU GRADUATE. WHO'S GONNA HUB THE TOILET ON FRIDAY NIGHTS?"

As the year draws to a close and the graduation countdown continues many of those who I call friends will be leaving for the 'real world' while I face yet one more year of classwork, homework, and fire alarms. They have completed an important phase of life and now move on to what are touted as bigger and better things. Friends go separate ways. Yet real friends never feel the distance. So to the following people I have called 'friend' goodbye and goodluck.

John M, John L, A and M (so close but still so far), Chris, Deb, Brian, Pattie, Mark, Sue, Mark et al Connector gang, the Seventh Floor, Dave (it has been great), Janet, Trish, Mike, and anyone else who I may not get the chance to say it to personally

And for anyone else who is saying goodbye to someone here is a well wish for the future to them from us, Take care, let's do lunch.

Chiefs Sign Four Top Recruits

Not resting on the laurels of its 22-12-2, 1986-'87 season and returning all but two players, the University of Lowell HOCKEY team has signed four top players to letters of intent for next year announced head coach Bill Riley.

Coming to UL next season to continue their education and hockey careers will be forward Steve Ablitt (Toronto, ONT), right wing Eric Richard (Cheshire, CT), and defensemen Mike Erickson (Shrewsbury, MA) and Peter Sentner (Swampscott, MA).

"Ablitt and Richard should give us more scoring punch and better scoring depth next season by making our second, third and fourth lines more productive. Erickson should be in the hunt for a regular spot on the blue line with the seven returnees and Sentner will give us depth and another solid defenseman for the future as we graduate four defensemen next year," commented head coach Bill Riley about his Class of 1991.

Ablitt was named his league's Rookie of the Year while playing for the Richmond Hill Dynes, the same club that sent Randy LeBrasseur to UL last year. A right shot forward who can play either center or right wing, Ablitt is a complete player who should get his share of goals and could see time on specialty teams according to Riley.

Selected to play for Team Massachusetts in the AHAUS sponsored Hockey Night in Boston Tournament, Erickson is a 6-0, 185-pound defenseman who played at St. John's in Shrewsbury, Mass. He is a skillful, heady defenseman with good hands and a hard, heavy shot. His physical style and toughness in the corners will fit right in with the Chiefs style.

Beset by injuries his sophomore and junior years in high school, Sentner is a big (6-1, 190), good skating defenseman with good hands. He likes to play aggressively and very physical. Riley is looking for him to blossom with more playing time.

The leading scorer in the history of Avon Old Farms (Avon, CT), Richard is a pure goal scorer who should make the Chiefs offense more explosive next season. He played for Team New England in the Hockey Night in Boston Tournament and is a very skilled player who will give the Chiefs one of the strongest right wing sides in HOCKEY EAST.

The Last Rugby Article

As all of you must know by now, this is the last rugby article of the spring semester. As such, the first order of business must be to thank Coaches Clayton and Steve for their teaching, support, and especially patience during this season. Their enthusiasm and knowledge of the game made playing for the Lowell R.F.C. a lot of fun.

While thanks are being given out, I have been encouraged to thank Morgan for his tireless efforts to deliver our pullover jacket just in time to wear them for summer break.

Last Saturday, the Barbarians played an experienced Boston University squad. The game was typical for the Barbarians with the opposition scoring several tries and Lowell scoring several knockouts. A minimum of three BU players had to be rushed to nearby hospitals for injuries sustained during the match. A try was scored by Mike From Hell for the Barbarians.

The party afterwards had plenty of beer but only the Lowell players, led by Skippy and Ed, belted out those beloved drinking songs. The small BU contingent was silent.

A final note: the Lowell Rugby Football Club will be fielding a team in the fall semester and although you probably don't want to think that far ahead, all prospective players should be thinking about getting into shape for the coming season. I have devised what I believe to be a comprehensive plan for coming back to school prepared. First of all, you should try to get out and run a little, say two to three miles a day. Secondly, try lifting weights to build up your strength. Third, drink heavily, say six to eight beers a day to build up your tolerance. If you have an old athletic shoe lying around try drinking out of that. Finally, tune up your singing voice and learn to be comfortable around huge women. See you in the fall.

Crew Places at New Englands Rowing Toward National Regatta

by Patrick Mathews

At the recent New England Invitational rowing regatta ULowell crew placed three crews in the finals with the Varsity Women's Four placing a close 2nd. The regatta includes twelve of the small colleges of the New England with as many as 12 teams competing for honors in a racing category.

The conditions were near ideal on the Lake Quinsigamond race course in Worcester on May 2. The usually rough waterway was host to over 100 crews of Women and Men.

Early heats saw the Novice Men's Lightweight crew qualify for the final. This band of individuals who have been known to take this sport very seriously did just that on Saturday. The crew was the first ever to qualify for the final in this event by a ULowell crew. The crew is composed of some who are in their first semester of the sport. They were just outclassed in the final by some better crews.

In the final race held later in the day they placed 6th. Their time was 8:13.

The Novice Men's Four raced in preliminary heats but missed the qualifying 2nd spot. The relatively inexperienced crew fell short of the times clocked by UNH and Wesleyan.

The Novice Women's Eight trying to repeat the qualifying effort of the Novice Men fell just short of that. The crew finished ahead of two other crews but only managed 4th spot missing the 3rd qualifying spot. The winning crew in that heat eventually went on to win the final race in the afternoon.

In winning their heat the Varsity Women's Four advanced to the afternoon final in which they turned in a fine performance. The top three from each heat went on to the finals.

The final was a battle between the US Coast Guard crew and ULowell. The Coast Guard crew obtained a slight lead in the first 500 meters and held that slight lead until the final 500 meters at which time ULowell started the charge. The margin was to great to overcome, Coast Guard was able to hold a 2.9 second lead at the finish. The tightly fought battle no doubt will again be fought next week at the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia.

The Men's 2nd Varsity Crew placed 4th in the heat. University of New Hampshire who won their heat eventually went on to win the final.

The Women's Varsity Lightweight Eight competed in the Heavyweight category. Although they defeated two crews in their heat they missed the 3rd qualifying spot by only 9 seconds. This crew will defend the title of Varsity Women's Lightweight Champions at the Dad Vail regatta considered to be the National Championships for small colleges and universities.

The Varsity Men's Eight qualified for the final with a third place in the heat. In the very competitive final ULowell placed 5th just seconds off UMass who was 4th. This crew is striving to better last years performance at the Dad Vail regatta in which they qualified for the Petite Final placing 11th overall.

The team travels today to Philadelphia for the Dad Vail regatta.

The Roommate Game A Real Campus Event

It came down to seven questions. Seven questions and seven teams. The Roommate finals had arrived. On Tuesday, April 28, contestants from each building played for the grand prize of $200 in Pheasant Lane Mall gift certificates donated by the RHA.

The festivities began with the arrival of Mike Erickson, the guest master of ceremonies. Sporting a tan suit and a slicked-back hairdo, Erickson played Bob Eubanks to a tee. Those who know Mike, the former Leitch Hall Resident Director, know his sense of humor made him the perfect candidate. Bob Valli, Eric Ablequist, and Ray Welliver aided with the scorekeeping and judging.

The crowd was filled with residents from every hall who came to cheer on the representatives. A small but loud contingency showed to cheer Michelle McGraff and Patricia Earley, the contestants from Concordia. A strong Towers showing split their loyalties between Bob Benson, Mike O'Malley, Chris Teehan, and Carol Carson, the Upper and Lower Towers finalists. Phil Devita and Kosta Sidopopoulos dragged a rambunctious bunch of Third and Fourth floor Bourgeois residents in for support, and support they did. In terms of crowd support, Conrade Thomas and Randy LeBrasseur had the men of Leitch Hall for an overwhelming show of force. Due to inclement weather, the Eames team could only manage a small core of hearty supporters. The Smith team of Joe DiNuzzo and Mike Brodbine had the smallest number of supporters, however it turned out they could do it by themselves. The Smith team took it all.

The event was a success. Even with the freak snow storm keeping away a large number of Smith, Eames, and Concordia residents, the event attracted the interest of close to one hundred spectators. I felt as if this was a real campus. I would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to all the R.A.'s who made this possible. A special thanks to Dave Stordy, Joe Lane, Carol Cahalane, and Ray Welliver for their efforts. And a final note of thanks to my roommate, Chris Martino, who if we could have played, would be spending the money right now.

Louis Brady

Freshman

Last year, Massachusetts became the nation's first state to require proof of immunization against certain diseases for college entry. The new law, which has a staggered implementation, became effective September 1, 1986. For 1986-1987 school year, the law requires full-time freshmen and all health, health science students (under age 30) with direct patient contact to provide proof of immunity against measles, mumps, rubella, tetanus and diphtheria upon registration.

In an attempt to comply with the College Immunization Law, the Student Health Service will mark all header cards of non-compliant students and such students will NOT be allowed to register for Fall classes. This law is being enforced by the University of Lowell and the Massachusetts Public Health Department.

If you have not yet satisfied the immunization law by filing proof of immunity do so immediately or risk not being able to register and possible suspension from classes.

QUESTION #2.

HOW CAN THE BUDGET-CONSCIOUS COLLEGE STUDENT SAVE MONEY?

- Save over 50% off AT&T's weekday rates on out-of-state calls during nights and weekends.
- Don't buy textbooks when "Monarch Notes" will do just fine.
- Save 38% off AT&T's weekday rate on out-of-state calls during evenings.
- Count on AT&T for exceptional value and high quality service.
- Hang around with the richest kids in school; let them pick up the tab whenever possible.

If you're like most college students in the western hemisphere, you try to make your money go a long way. That's why you should know that AT&T Long Distance Service is the right choice for you.

* AT&T offers so many terrific values. For example, you can save over 50% off AT&T's day rate on calls during weekends to 8 am, until 5 pm Sunday, and from 11 pm Sunday through Friday.

Call between 5 pm and 11 pm, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 38% off our day rate.

Ever dial a wrong number? AT&T gives you immediate credit if you do. And of course, you can count on AT&T for clear long distance connections any place you call.

To find out more about how AT&T can help save you money, give us a call. With a little luck, you won't have to hang around with the rich kids. Call toll-free today, at 1 800 222-0300

SUMMER & PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES WITH AVIS IN BOSTON.

Working with Avis between semesters or part-time when your class schedule permits, will allow you to gain valuable business experience and highly marketable skills, while earning hourly rates that are very competitive.

We are currently seeking industrious undergraduates for the following positions at our Logan Airport and Downtown facilities.

CUSTOMER SERVICE RENTAL AGENTS

Make the most of your out-going personality. Work face-to-face with travelers from all over the world...helping each satisfy their car rental needs with poise, confidence and caring. Our fully paid training program will teach you everything you need to know.

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE AGENTS

Perform a variety of non-mechanical maintenance duties that keep the AVIS rental car fleet in top operating condition. These positions involve interior and exterior cleaning of vehicles, replacing gas used and checking fluid/pressure levels to ensure road-worthiness.

AUTOMOTIVE SHUTTLE DRIVERS

Shuttle Avis rental fleet cars between Logan Airport and other Avis Rent-A-Car locations in the greater Boston area. Requires a responsible attitude, driving knowledge of the Boston area and clean, valid MA-license.

AVIS ADVANTAGES INCLUDE:

- Competitive pay rates
- Fully paid training
- Company provided uniforms
- Holiday pay
- Balanced lifestyle shifts that include day, evening and weekend assignments.

If you're ready to explore these summer and part-time positions with Avis, apply in person, Monday-Friday, 11AM-5PM, at the AVIS Check-in office at Logan Airport. Or if you prefer, call 424-0908 for an appointment. Rental Agent positions also available at our downtown location. We are an equal opportunity employer M/F/H/V

When you're out of college and looking for a job, it takes more than an impressive looking resume to impress a personnel manager. But how can you get respectable job experience when you go to school full time?

The answer is summer temporary assignments with Kelly. We provide temporary help to 98% of the Fortune 500 firms—the kind of companies that will be first on your list when you embark on a career after graduation.

Take on as many (or as few) assignments as you like, choosing from office automation, marketing, or one of many other interesting opportunities. You'll be making contacts now with people who will remember you later. Plus, you can earn good money for tuition expenses.

70,000 students nationwide will get a head start on their careers this summer. You can, too. Just register at one of over 600 Kelly offices nationwide. It doesn't cost a thing—and it could pay big dividends for your future. Call:

A joke a day keeps the doctor away.

Gala of News

New Medicine

J. Sleeper, professor of the Drug Department, has recently discovered an outstanding medicine. "Now I am facing the challenge of finding the appropriate diseases for this drug", he said proudly to our reporter.

Publications

Many bright articles were written by professor K. Trickster. For the last two years he has been writing with a four-color ball-point pen.

New Materials

New artificial human hair was designed in the Advanced Material Department. It is like natural. After being implanted on a bold head, it shines, curls, and comes out fast.

His Success

A new method of excitation of the media was recently demonstrated by professor P. Nobrainich. "Oh, he is a big expert in making waves," his colleagues say about him.

New Goods

A new inexpensive clock is offered at our jeweler's store. The hands in the clock do not move. However, two times a day they show the exact time.

Doctor's Corner

Psychologist Van Der Empties has devised a way to motivate children to take Cod liver oil. For each table spoon of oil taken, give your son a dime and tell him to drop it in the piggy bank. When the piggy bank is full, open it with solemnity, hand the money to your son, and send him to the nearest market to buy another bottle of Cod liver oil.

Friendly Service

If you lost an expensive jewelry or a lot of cash come to our "House of Lost and Found". We will meet you with a smile.

Guaranteed Quality

The downtown Wedding Company is expecting a new shipment of fresh brides. All brides have been vaccinated against rabies.

In Asia

A famous explorer J. Luffer has recently discovered a tribe of cannibals which proudly call themselves vegetarians. Voo Doo Bloodsucker Jr., the leader of the tribe, said that they are fairly innocent since the only food they consume is vegetarian human beings.

Wise Course

Autosuggestion is becoming very popular among young men. After passing the course student B. Stinker successfully enters into animal's role. For instance, while imagining himself to be a hen, he runs around the room, flaps his wings (hands), cackles... but has not laid eggs yet.

The House News

The orientalist F. Tattler has been recalled from the "Orient" restaurant in connection with transfer to other work.

Bionic News

In a letter to the editor an expert in bionics M. Dummys proposes a system of sexual reproduction in automobiles. "If they were to propagate themselves," Dummys writes, "then we would not have to buy new cars often. Just take your old car to the breeder... and wait for nine months."

Town News

A new funeral home has opened on Grave Street. The first 10 visitors are served free. Hurry up and bring a friend along.

Be Healthy

Our company offers new diet pills. In two days after taking the first pill your arms and legs wither and fall off. The weight will never be regained.

Parodies by Dr. Alexander Khazan

An Outstanding Achievement

It is well known that in Holland they pay 5 guildens for the tail of one rat. M. Crasyer, a graduate student of the Advanced Material Department, has developed a method of fabrication of rats' tails from waste materials. He can make 4 tails a day, which makes 20 guildens.

His Inspiration

"To beat... or Not to beat... that is the question," thought a young writer B. Crayer about the title of his new novel while driving to work. When he opened the door to his room and saw the face of his boss he decided at once, To beat..., of course, To beat..."

World News

An international congress of homosexual dogs and cats is planned to be held on New Beach. Homosexuality of owners is optional.

New Product

Beginning from tomorrow our store specialized in spring water, will also sell spring air.

Come now and save!

Zoo News

An interesting event occurred in the local zoo. A young tigress Lola gave birth to a rabbit. The stripped baby feels well but is very much afraid of sucking his mother.

Smile

If you are pressed by your boss, ignored by your colleagues, forgotten by your friends, and betrayed by your wife, be optimistic. Smile and say to yourself, "I don't have AIDS and my house has not been burnt down yet".

Computer World

It is well known how useful a personal computer is for financial planning. Economist B. Sniffer, after months of hard work with his new computer, has discovered an interesting correlation. The cost of food per month divided by the cost of bathroom tissue is equal to his age: 34 years. This law and many other useful laws can be discovered if you buy our computer.

Good Newspaper

When burned in a wood stove, our newspaper produces 200 calories more than the celebrated Boston Globe. Buy our newspaper and enjoy it.

Science and Life

Student Chris Puffer studying atomic structures found a great similarity between the electron-nucleus interaction and his relationship with his girlfriend Linda Flirty. Like an electron he always feels attracted to the "nucleus" Linda. All time long he revolves but can never fall on her.

Intelligent Computer

It is said that good thoughts come too late. A new computer which generates good ideas in advance has been designed in the Artificial Brain Laboratory. For instance, even before your hateful boss thinks about it the computer can determine that you will be fired soon and prints out on a terminal a good idea: "Give yourself a pleasure - go to your boss, insult him, and leave his office slamming the door."

Graduating seniors... get the credit you deserve at BayBanks.

*Soon you'll be graduating,
and BayBanks would like to get you started with your first auto loan.*

The First-Time Borrower Program. BayBanks has created a First-Time Borrower Program, a convenient way to establish credit and buy something you really need - a car.

Under this program, BayBanks has developed special credit criteria that make it easier for you to obtain an auto loan.

Qualifying is Easy. Just answer the following questions.

Are you a graduating college senior who has accepted a full-time position in New England?

Can you provide written verification from your future employer that you will begin work within 60 days of the date you purchase the car?

If you answer "yes" to both of these questions, you may qualify as a First-Time Borrower!

The Smart Way to Borrow. In addition to being a great way to establish credit, a BayBanks First-Time Borrower auto loan is an intelligent way for you to borrow. You will find our interest rates competitive. You can select terms that suit your personal financial situation and you can choose your own payment date, which makes your budgeting easier. And, as a First-Time Borrower, you can delay your first payment for up to 90 days from the date you purchase the car.

Applying is Easy, Too! To apply, just call the BayBanks Loan Phone. Identify yourself as a First-Time Borrower, and provide the information requested by our Loan Phone Representative. We'll do the rest.

If your future employment plans are unsettled at this time, save the Loan Phone number listed below, and apply when you accept a job offer.

Banking Convenience. In addition to providing auto loans, BayBanks can service all your personal financial needs. We have over 200 full-service offices and over 700 X-Press 24® automated tellers located throughout the state for your banking convenience.

Please visit any BayBank office for more information on BayBanks' other financial services.

Personals

To all students: At the Squeeze concert last Thursday night, all I heard was complaining about how our supposed Spring Carnival was a joke (and how good/bad Squeeze was). Well, here is a solution for you: Join a club or the SIC or the AC. Get involved!!!! Nobody has any right to get pissed off if all you do is bitch about things. If you attempt to change things, fine, bitch and moan all you want—you deserve it as long as you honestly tried to change things. Other wise hold your tongue!!!! The Typesetter

Gina—You were correct. Fortune cookies never lie (that cookie must have known about Linda)! Hopefully, the search for the girl of my dreams has finally ended. JSB

To Tina (the tennis animal) and Kimberly—It was a real pleasure playing doubles with you two. Thnx for the laughs, and good luck on your finals. Jeff

Two females wanted to share large apartment. Prime location on North Campus. Available May 22. Call 937 9377

Join the "Miss Lust fan club" today, and enjoy many French (oops) fringe benefits

Kathy: From the guy in Bogus with the white hat: Do you want it???

Dec: "With or without her", "She's lost that loving feeling", What do you think?

Kathy: What's a schlomper?

Kathy: Who were you staring at, at the Squeeze concert. From the very guy, the Freshman Sensation.

Pat: Remeber Lubrism - The council of trent- SAC Time!!! L.O.V.E.

Jim in 414: It was so much fun sleeping with you on that wednesday afternoon. We'll have to do it again some time. Maybe at my new apartment. Keep in touch. The Sleepy one

Steve in 412: Have a great summer. We are already in the apartment but in September so will you!!! I'm so psyched!!! This is the best. Your new roommate

Rich and Ric (my new roommates): Well we finally did it!!! Out of those gross dorms. This is going to be a wild summer! Especially with those neighbors downstairs. Interesting summer, huh? Your new roommate.

Alice: What happened Saturday night? Did B.O. "blow" a few notes on your organ?... A Curious Roommate

Kevin: I told Pappy about how my closet door got stuck, she told me she would have it fixed right away

Bob: Your friend called, he wanted to know if there was any pork included with those beans

Phil, George and Dave, You guys are the greatest. I'm gonna miss you. Thanks for the party invites and the fun times in Calc I with Tim. Good luck on your finals and have a great summer. Keep in touch. I hope to see you again next Fall. Luv, Gina

Brenda—I love you forever!!! —Rich

Mark G., Dan K., & Rick M.: Thanx for playing V-Ball! Love, Amy P.S. So when is the party for the Captain of the team???

To the "Concordia 6th floor partying women" Chandeliers, Mexicans, the Beach, and Yahmo! Let's do it again, soon. From a fellow partying woman, J.A.B.

Brian L. (on Leitch 1): Thanx for being a great friend! Hope to see you during the summer and next semester. Keep in touch! Love, Jenny-poo

Hey Vic Ferrari in 329 L. How do you know it's your condoms that I want from you? Or for that matter, anything else? Guess Who?

To the Girls on the low wing of the ninth floor. Thankyou so much for those personals over the past two weeks. How did you know I cleaned under tables for a living? It's been the most exciting time of my life; too bad it had to end. But at least I had fun. Love you guys even though those personals were, ah, who shall we say it, X-Rated. I Love the forgotten L.

Steve, Mark and Rod; I love you guys! P

Tracy, Like they say, "Chance made us roommates, but hearts made us friends" Love ya, P.

Hah Vic Ferrari in 329 L: My mechanic can handle any foreign motor or its parts. Are y ou so sure you can handle mine? Love, Liz

Jeanne—Try to stay away from those spiders. "Are you gonna be sick?" ...Wooo... Woo.Woo.Woo

"Kim, all of a sudden everything's gonna fall" ....

Riverside....It's worth the TRIP!!!

Tricia: Can we camp out at the elevator again? I had too much fun... I hope Kim makes it home next time a little more sober!!!!

Lisa Cole, This is me again, I hope that my appearance looks good on Wednesday, I tried to look extra special for you. "Moosehead Taxi Service" P.S. I'm crazy about you!!!!

To Lisa Cole, You are the best looking girl in my 9:30 life science class, Rm 503 Olsen. I would like very much to take you out sometime. "Moosehead Taxi Service"

Grace—I thought we had hope in turning you into a party animal, but I guess the Squeeze concert just didn't cut it. It'll definitely have to be next year (along with some FUNNELS!!!!) Have a great summer

Joe, Michael, & Gos: Good luck on your finals. Party at my house, September 7!! Have a great summer. MADDOG

Karen & Tasha—You guys better not forge about me this summer! I'll be up to make sure you're doing your school work! Good luck on finals - you need it!!! Bye, Karen

Bob Derrah, I'm sorry about the concert. Here's your personal, if you want a dirty one, just spill coffee over it. Joanne

Joanne: I have it from high authority that notnAP (president of CARP) is very disappointed with your personal. The Typesetter (Citizens for the Advancement of Raunchy Personals)

Thanks to that patient kinda guy who I love to death! I'm yours all summer. Love you, Kris

To the 5:30 regulars (Pat, Mike, Dec, and Jumpin' Jim): Thanks for all those great dinner conversations. I'm going to miss all a lot this summer. Keep in touch. Love, "Christopher"

Junior: 8 more days and I am happenin'! With 6 haps!!! I'll tell dad to close the bar early so we can go nuts in the place.

Mary-n-Kathy: Thank you for giving up your time to officiate for intramurals. You are both doing a great job. Bloom County, ps- Please remember which team sent you this personal when the playoffs begin, okay? (Just kidd'n, keep up the good work)

Joe—Thanks for keeping us company all those nights when you would rather have been keeping a beer (or 2 or 3 or...) company! And your thanks isn't necessary for all the help we gave you with sex!!! If you need any help in the future, you know where we'll be. Congratulations and best wishes always! Love, Joanne and Jen

Kristin and Josie (and Scott and Bob)—You guys are the best roommates I could have hoped for!!! Have awesome summers and take care!!! Love always-Jen

Lynne Reinhalter—Just because I'm taking your room over next year doesn't mean that you won't always have a place there (on the floor, of course)! Good luck next year and keep in touch! You'll really be missed!!! Love, Jen

Escort Service: Thanks. It was nice meeting all of you. To the seniors: Congratulations and Good luck in your future endeavors. To the others: Have a great summer and I'll see you next semester. —The S. Express

Kevin W.: Thanks for your help this semester. I hope you have a great summer!! See you next year. —Karen

Kristen and Ginny: It's been a great year! Next year will be even better, roomies. Have a great summer! —Karen

Jilly: You cowboy! Number three? Did you use the line this time? And when are you gonna color code your notches? We'll ride this summer! Your Cowboy partner

Sil, Well, it was real. Thanks for an unusual semester and the male population at Lowell also thanks you. Ha Ha Ha! D

Club 105: Thanks for an awesome semester. you guys are the best! Love ya, Dawn

Box Spring: I had a good time working with you this past year. Hope you are still around come September. The Typesetter

Cooch, here is the personal you requested. You know, you really shouldn't get drunk, it makes it very easy for a girl to take advantage of you—next time I'll buy! Love you, Dawn

To Joe (who ever you may be): We'd like to thank you for keeping us all so amused, even though we had no idea who you were. Sorry if we influenced you to through your beer in your face, but you definitely returned the favor by snoring in stereo all night long!

If you'd like to end your semester with a little more than a final exam, then go to the Club 105 No More School Party, Saturday night, 16 May, 105 Gate Street! Compliments of Cooch, Abe, Chris and Zocchi

Johnny, I've never had so much fun with a lobster before, and I've never seen you move so fast! With Love, Your Kitchen Cleaner

Morely, Isn't it wonderful how well the ceiling and the door co-ordinate? And isn't it wonderful how special quarters and bread crumbs can be? Thank! Love, Chris

Hey Bren my Friend, and only toilet surfing buddy!! The rest of them don't know what they are missing!! (and hey, I didn't forget, Morley you are next!!!!) Love, Chris

Russ, you were the only one of us who was disturbed enough to figure out that we were watching a football game with Peanuts vs. Cars, with a x-mas tree referee! You poor kid! Love you anyway!! Chris

Why is that man talking to a sock? Why is that sock talking to that man? Who would make a man and a sock have a conversation? Why are we watching that man talk to that sock?

What's faster than a speeding bullet? Stronger than a locomotive? Able to leap tall buildings in a single bound? It's the Combination Brenda, Chris, Morley, and Libby Speed Star Sledding Team! Ouch!

What ever happened to Hydro, the duck at the hydro plant?

Jen, I'm sorry but my life is just a little bit more important than a ferns wheel ride! Maybe next time. Love, your fellow goblet smuggler (I wasn't too obvious was I?)

Loubu, Passing out at 10:00?!! What a dent to your image. The Cape Codders. P.S. How was it sleeping beneath Pam?

Senior Citizen: Thanks for all the help on Thursday! I'm glad that you're taking the five year plan!

Kara, Sue, Denise, Christina, Congratulations and good luck out in the real world! Don't forget to come back and visit. I'll miss you all. Love, H.B.

H.B.: Is there such a thing as the "real world"? The Typesetter

Sue, Diane, Patti: When can we go shopping again? Soon I hope. Shopping Card Kid

To my fellow Cape Codders: Why do I always get busted? Cape Codderless

To my neighbor: Remember, you are the chasell!!!!

"Bill Keefe for Governor"

A classic phrase immortalized by BOOB: "Tonight, I am intoxicated!!!!"

Dear BOOB, Thank you for gining us the opportunity to see you "under the influence". We thrive on the fact that you are just as obnoxious and assinine as the rest of us (whom you would never compare yourself to). Keep up the good work! The Tor-mentor

Once again, the Tor-mentor comes through. Oh, what an incredible being! He can do no wrong. Even test scores lower than 100 str later found to be in erro. Oh, joy! Take advantage of his presence, for his door is always half-open (unless he's smoking).

Tor-mentor: Aren't you just a little bit stuck on yourself? The Typesetter

Ponita—It's been a trip knowing you since September. Hope you have a good vacation and stay away from the fellas (smile) Kat of the "Posse"

K.R. in E214—This year has real, one that I think we both will remember. Have a good summer and don't keep the "PUB" open too late on the 19th -you know who

Hello Drev!!

I just don't give a ----!!!!!!

Krin (906) Thanks for your help. L/D

Sue Weldon: Happy Belated Birthday!! Just think, in another year you will be a fifth of a century old. You are old!

Brenda: Since you used my name and room number in your last personal, we feel it is only fair to do the same for you....

BKRBR all in 1522: You were given noses to breathe through so that you could keep your mouths' shut. This includes mumbuling. You seem to talk a lot, (to everyone else) and tend to talk through your noses

To the multiple of 1522 (RBD and Co.) are you that desperate? It looks like Barnum and Bailey's Three Ring Circus, with B and K as the Ringmasters!

Okay H.B., here is your personal. Enjoy your finals, have a good summer, and send all those letters to B.J.C. next year. Lots of hugs, Anne

Joe Palano—Leicester is closer to So. Barrel! See you later.

Carolyn—Congrats on graduation and on finally hooking Stan. You deserve the best! Here's to popcorn. Anne

Andrew Donaghue: I'm wicked sorry that we didn't make it to your party, even though I did call back and I did tell your roommate that we'd try to be there!! I hope you had a good time! Good luck on finals and I hope to see you this summer! With Love from your Concordia Pal

Diane Caya: So, you lost your shoes on Friday night? And, you got Holes in your "socks"??? Boy, you certainly fit the requirement of being "Girls of Questionable Virtue" (that was the "i" word—I asked). Love, Buster

Patty-Pat: It wasn't a bad night after all, and just think, you have yet another friend!! We have to see each other more than just once this summer. Good luck on finals! Love, Liz

Hooles (of Hooles and the Gang): What a happened??? One minute, you passed out, the next minute you were gone!! I hope you had fun, I know Tom, enjoyed trying to determine who was the "Best dressed for Action"!!! Next time we'll have more fun! Love, Buster

Carolyn Razzaboni: Yes, you, you big woman!!! We'll miss the color T.V. (Especially Tuesday nights), but we know you could make it!!! Best of luck to you (and Stan the Man) in the future! Congratulations! Love from the Gang

AAN: What's this? Hand delivered personals on a 3X5 index card??? I never new that the Connector offered such a service!! I'm gonna miss you next year, but you're going to excel, especially with that R.A. position!! Best wishes to you, and tell us when the parties are - I'll bring the orange wine cooler!!! love, Liz

Kim C (The left handed bowler): Hope you had fun at Hampton, I know that I'm trying to reduce my sun-burn pain (that was a lame one, I admit!) Here's to luck in our place this summer and int he fall!!! Good luck on finals! Love, Buster

Diane M. Caya: When I told you that I was going to do this, you should have believed me! Thanks for the best weekend in a long time! Congratulations, you big P.T.! Love, Liz

Chris in L 330: Now that you've gotten inside my head, when are you going to show my what a real man is? Your Friend From Orientation

Laurin, Or should I say Laureene or Paul? We've done so much together this past year: SCS/History exam/Life Sci II/Stik and Cheese with pickles, tomatoes and onions? Meadowglen mall/Sci Mue/Havard/Sleeping at my house/Babysitting/Cleaning/etc. Couldn't have made it without you. ME in 901

Norman Bates Survey of Ethics: Answers. As you may have realized, the correct answers to the Norman Bates Survey of Ethics were all "d". Anyone who did not anser "d" to one or more of the questions should be stabbed repeatedly with a butcher's knife. Also, anyone not answering his Survey should be stabbed repeatedly with a butcher's knife. Norman Bates (aka The Computer)

Sprout: Take a trip back a few weeks in memory to the week before Bonzo played typesetter. Think carefully about the personal you submitted. Remember the last sentence? That is what I was referring to in my slightly delayed article. Chimaera

The Half-naked Bunnysetter:

Chimaera: One of your worst nightmares come true. What could be worse (except, perhaps, The Half-naked Bunnysetter with an alter ego). The Half-naked Bunnysetter!!

Jackson, the application was great!! We do good work. We will have to go in search of the "white limo". Don't worry we will find the man. You can break the eight month stretch, Elbee

Happy B-tated Birthday to Chev. Love Roo, Elbee, Jackson, Mander and Yucca.

Welcome to all our new Alpha Sigma Tau sisters. Good luck and best wishes. It was an awesome pledge class. Tau Love, Jackson

Sisters of Alpha Sigma Tau: Thanks for an awesome semester as your president. Have a great summer. I'll be thinking about you guys while I'm floating in the Pacific. Tau Love, Jackson

Pledge Mistress: The A.S.T. Sisters thank you for a great help weekend. Can't wait till next semester. Keep up the good work. Tau Love, Jackson

Happy 22nd Birthday Kathleen! Love, Your fellow swackers

Don't be afraid to mix in a little rejection!

To Mike, Kevin B, Johnny, Wandy, Itch and his Roommates: Have a great summer! -Kelly

Pattie, Glad you're feeling better. Have a great summer and good luck at U.S.C. Love, Martha

Bruce Lowthers: Good luck in the race and leave the sightseeing to the tourists. Love, Martha

Geddy, One more thing thanks for being such a good friend. If you are ever in need of a back rub just call. Love, Mom

Paul Gedman, I'm really gong to mis you next year. Good luck at Worcester Stat. Love, Martha

Beth, Diane, Terri, and Sue, Hope you all have a great summer. I'll send you guys postcards from where ever I end up (Alaska??). Love, Martha

Why do some Profs. ask "Any questions?" with their back to the class or looking down at their material? Just Wondering little p: and now the end is that much nearer. But does that mean you are any closer? Oh I don't know. Who might I get to "group" with next semester?

Kathy Mahoney: Thanks for all the early morning talks, and everything else. I'm glad we got to know each other (and rag on each other). You and Kim still have to come with me to party at MIT (or Northeastern, etc). Good luck with your finals, and have a great summer. Love, "The Brat"

Kimmey, Thanks for shortening my lifespan (remember my weak heart). Have a great summer. I'll miss you. Love, the heart attack victim.

Julie, I'm sure you will miss social psych as much as me (ugh). Have a great summer. Call me when the check comes in, I'm sure we can find something to spend it on. Keep in touch next semester. The dorms won't be the same without you. Just remember in Sept. we have a date with every bar in Lowell and elsewhere. Love, Cleo

Colleen, I simply wanted to say that I'll miss you. You are one of the craziest people I know. Love, Cleo. P.S. I'll also miss your loud mouth, especially at one in the morning. P.P.S. Why do they call you Libby?

Pumkin: Thank you for all your love and support through the past year. You mean the world to me and I hope we share many mor happy memories. Love now and Forever, L

To my roomie, Rhonda Lou. Have you ever considered switching bunks? Just kiddin'. Thanks for everything and congrats on become the 'student' asst. trainer for the hockey team! L. P.S. Daddy, Daddy—Slow Down! Ha! Ha!

Sisters of Alpha Omega: We really had an excellent year and there's more to look forward tonext semester. I hope everyone has an awesome summer! Good luck to us on our finals. Fawn

Tricia and Carolann: Congratulations on your graduation! Best of luck in your careers. You'll always be loved and never forgotten. Your sisters of Alpha Omega

To my Roommate: "$30,000 a year will buy a lot of beer..." or something like that. Congratulations and good luck in the future. The Typesetter

Mike, Pooter, and Artie: You guys are great friends and we've had an awesome year. We have to het together this summer because you will no longer be chained to the dungeon down in the basement. Love, your "roomies" Tre, Donna, and Lynne

Kevin: I am glad I met you on the retreat. Congratulations on graduation. Good luck in the Future. Donna

Lynne, You've been an awesome roommate and best friend this year. We've had so many good times that you'd better not forget about. Next year you have to come up for our birthdays. Remember our doors will always be open to you. Good luck at Bridgewater and I'll missya!!! Love, Theresa

Donna, Get psyched for next year. Our room is going to be awesome!! And we're going to have a blast. Have a great summer and don't forget to visit my little hicktown (if you can find it!). Love, your new roomie T

To all of second floor including Jen and Josie (future floormates): Thanks for making this year and this floor the best! Have fun over the summer! Concordia 2 is "Second to None"! a floormate

Karen: It's been a good year having you as a roommate. We've had some good good times together. Good luck and have fun next year. Donna. P.S. Positive Attitude

Lynne and T: It's been an awesome year! Let's make scenes...Like a rock...Like I don't get it..team "what" olympiad. Squeeze..road trips. Burbeck's..roomies. Crucible..movies. do you know..huh?..band head in door..sink..tub..weed..hall..chinese..food..Bogus basement..Dominoes..Chinese fire drills..and We are Second to None!!! Donna

Lynne: It's been an awesome year! We're really going to miss you. We've shared a lot of good times together and we hope you will never forget them! We're going to have to make road trips to see down at Bridgewater next year! We love ya!! Bye. Donna and Theresa to Team "What": Thanks all of you for making the Olympiad a great success. We had a lot of fun after the team nap, despite the fact we later had to take some team Tylenol! Too bad all of the team pizza is gone. We'll have to get some more next year. Love Team members Theresa, Donna, and Lynne

Donna and Tre: Thanks for helping to make this year one that I will always remember and especially for being two terrific friends who I could never forget. I may be leaving this year but don't think you're getting rid of me that easily. I'll be back!! Good luck next year! I love you guys!!! "L"

Dan: Thanks for everything since the Cape. You were right about "the rollercoaster", I tried to warn you but you didn't want to listen!! I hope you know what you're up against!! But don't forget, regardless of what the future holds—you've still got a good friends when you need her!!! Take care! Lynne

Bob: Thanks. Josie

Jen—You're the best roommate anyone could have. It's been a great semester. I can't wait for next year. What a blast it'll be. Love, Jos. P.S. Hey Joann! Watch out..here we come!!

To my Moonlight: What a memorable year—right down to the whipped cream. You're the balls. Love, your sunshine

Paul: Thanks for the other night—I had a great time. But if you're still interested—I know this girl....

To Concordia 2nd (and Jen and Josie): You guys are the best! Thanks for making my freshman year great. I'll miss you over the summer—but just wait until we hit Concordia 2 next year!! Have fun and be good! Love, Joanne

Joanne, "Have fun and be good"? I think that there is a contradiction in terms here. The Typesetter

To Lynne Reinhalter: So, what classes are you taking up here next semester? Just kidding! I'm so glad that we met this year. I think you're an awesome friend—and I know I speak for everyone when I say, I'll really miss you not being here next fall. Best wishes! Love, Joanne

Kathy in 1706: Stay out of fights with Chinese restaurant owners. Stop yelling in the cafe. It's too bad that you forgot the hidden mug, and the pink shirt; You could have won. Score a goal next year.

Sue in 1706: Nice hand across the face. Did you bet on Seattle Sleuth? You better stop spitting on the floor. Take another picture with the Goof. Return the cup back to Leitch. 5 in only 3 days—that must be a record. That's a nice plastic watch.

In response to the "ten hottest girls on campus" List, we have accumulated our own top ten list: The Ten shadiest characters on Campus:

Paul A.	Boner
Vinny S.	Tommy H.
Ricky F.	Pat K.
Timmy F.	George the Cop
Scotty B.	The Wrestler

Jodi in 1715: Memory recall—what happened between the house and Wannalancit? Not drinking again this weekend I suppose? That's okay as long as you are good. The main thing is who won the bet. Some friends making us walk all over Plymouth looking for fun. Who's the baby sitter now? The Bucket Crew

To Jodi and Kate in 1715: Bring on the Buka girls. I didn't know Pippy's cousin went to Plymouth Stat. Don't poke anyone in the side. How about 100/Very Fine Apple Juice and a pitcher of Coke

Kate in 1715—You took Ball and Pivots advice at Plymouth, didn't you... Fun and Games

Randy and Scott in Leitch—Keep your pants on in public, or is that how they party in Canada? We warned you that we would send you a personal. —Guess who

Readers: The rumors have been flying around here for a little while at an incredible pace. They have been finally confirmed by the people (?) involved and, it is...TRUE!! (Oh, help us all on the personals page). The Typesetter P.S. Congrats you guys...

Half-naked Woman: Together again!! How I ever got a second chance, I will never know, but that is moot! Fear not, I won't get "cold feet" this time. notnAP

Kate in 1715—Two vital questions: 1)His name and 2)Are we going out to eat? How was the fall at the college. The varnish on your pants looks wicked good. Next time you're on that ledge, you should wear your hat the right way. Your friend, Bart

Swaba: To bad you tied at the bag game and lost a fight to a couple of "broads". You just can't bet us. Can't wait for a rematch. We will kick your a** again. Guess who?

To all those with a green mark on their arm or else where. It doesn't mean you get free beer. Sorry. Catch you at the next party. The Inconspicuous Emerald Pen

Tom M. Here is your personal. Nothing like writing it at the last minute. I guess I will always be late. Just remember I love you. Your WG

Harry Bolt: Wanna buy a rabbit? Half-naked Woman

Little Wook: Lessons are learned by both, and the two wookies went their way, together as they belong. Wook

To Hooles and the Gang: Thanks for the good times we've shared at ULowell! Don't forget me when I'm gone. Love, Anne Ray, R.A. '88

Left handed bowler: My favorite suds partner, you will be missed by me. Thanx for the photos and for the great memories. Right handed bowler

To my favorite cousin Tricia: I'm happy that you got R.A.! Stay sweet and healthy. See you soon. Anne

Hey, Mr. Softie! Off you're going into the wild blue yoner without me (waah) - I'm gonna miss you! Keep in touch, just cause you're graduating doesn't mean you should become an antisocialite, right???

GETTING THIS WASN'T EASY.

WITH FORD CREDIT GETTING THIS...

FROM VALUE FORD IS.

At VALUE FORD we know getting that degree wasn't easy. But when it comes to a new car, we can help with pre-approved credit from Ford Credit. If you are working on an advanced degree or graduating with a Bachelor's Degree between October 1, 1986 and September 30, 1987, you may qualify for this special college graduate purchase program.

If you do, you'll receive a $400 cash allowance from Ford. Make your best deal on any qualifying vehicle and use the money toward your down payment,

Ford Motor
Credit

or Ford will send you a $400 check after the purchase or lease. The money is yours whether you finance or not.

The amount of your credit depends on which of these qualified vehicles you choose:

Ford cars: Escort, Escort EXP, Tempo, Mustang, Thunderbird, Taurus.

Ford trucks: Aerostar, Bronco II, Ranger.

So hurry. If a vehicle is not in dealer stock you must order by June 1, 1987, and you must take delivery of any vehicle by August 31, 1987.
